Dahuron, René

Traité de la taille des arbres et de la manière de les bien élever, avec un traité de la culture des melons. Celle, 1690. (Miltitz, col.293)

Altho this edition is not confirmed by other bibliographers, the preface of the 1699 ed. suggests that Dahuron's work was written about this time, as he was unaware of the publication of La Quintinie's work, which first appeared in 1690. (MFW)

----- Cell et Liège, 1692. 142 p. (Pritzel, 1st ed.)
Also in Haller, 2:10, Miltitz, l.c., and copy advertised by Dultz, Ant.-Kat. 3, no.1134.

----- Liège, J. F. Broncart, 1699. 142 p. (Arn. Arb.; Dept. Agr.; Brit. Mus.) (Wageningen, 22731)

Altho Liège is only place given on Dept. Agr. printed card, full imprint reads: "A Cell, et se vend à Liège, Chez J. F. Broncart", which probably accounts for the "Cell" in the previous title. Dept. Agr. copy contains no privilege or other clue to the date of the original edition, but preface suggests that it may have been written about 1690. (MFW)

----- Nouveau traité de la taille des arbres fruitiers, contenant plusieurs figures qui marquent les manières de les bien tailler. Paris, C. de Sercy, 1696. 156 p. (Bib. Nat. Paris)

Also noted by Seguiet, p.356; Haller, 2:10; and Miltitz, col.293. Gibault, Jour. Soc. Nat. Hort. France (1905), p.730, refers to this as a veritable compend of La Quintinie, whose pupil Dahuron had been. Without opportunity to compare this with any of the Liège editions, it is impossible to say whether it is identical, but it is probable that it differs somewhat from them. (MFW)

----- [Ed. augm.] 1718. (Jöcher, Sup. 2:605)

The first part of the report deals with the general situation of the country. It is a very interesting and informative study of the country's development. The author has done a great deal of research and has gathered a wealth of material. The report is well written and is a valuable contribution to the study of the country's development.

The second part of the report deals with the economic situation of the country. It is a very interesting and informative study of the country's economic development. The author has done a great deal of research and has gathered a wealth of material. The report is well written and is a valuable contribution to the study of the country's economic development.

The third part of the report deals with the social situation of the country. It is a very interesting and informative study of the country's social development. The author has done a great deal of research and has gathered a wealth of material. The report is well written and is a valuable contribution to the study of the country's social development.

The fourth part of the report deals with the political situation of the country. It is a very interesting and informative study of the country's political development. The author has done a great deal of research and has gathered a wealth of material. The report is well written and is a valuable contribution to the study of the country's political development.

The fifth part of the report deals with the cultural situation of the country. It is a very interesting and informative study of the country's cultural development. The author has done a great deal of research and has gathered a wealth of material. The report is well written and is a valuable contribution to the study of the country's cultural development.

The sixth part of the report deals with the future of the country. It is a very interesting and informative study of the country's future. The author has done a great deal of research and has gathered a wealth of material. The report is well written and is a valuable contribution to the study of the country's future.

----- Nouvelle éd., cor. et augm. Paris, C. Prudhomme, 1719. 286 (i.e.296) p. (Dept. Agr.; Arn. Arb.; Bib. Nat. Paris; Brit. Mus.)

Place of publication "Celle", given for this ed. in Miltitz, col.293, must be incorrect. This issue contains all the directions on pruning of the 1699 edition, but with many additions, some not for the better, and has the appearance of a garbled edition. (MFW)

----- Nouvelle éd. Paris, Saugrain fils, 1740. 286(1.e.296?) p. (Bib. Nat. Paris)

Probably identical with the preceding.

----- Paris, 1752. (Haller, 2:10)

----- [Italian] Il giardiniero francese, overo Trattato del tagliare gl'alberi da frutto con la maniera di ben allevarli, trasportato dal francese di Monsu' René Dahuron ... Aggiunto un compendio delle regole ... cavate da Monsu' della Quintinyé. Venetia, Appresso Girolamo Albrizzi, 1698. 55 p. F°. (Dept. Agr.)

The first 19 pages, tho much condensed, and illustrations, seem to be taken directly from the "Traité de la taille des arbres" of 1699. The "Compendio delle regole" (p.21-50), and "Descrittione de peri" (p.50-55) have not been identified in La Quintinie, tho they may easily have been taken verbatim from his work. (MFW)

Entered by Segulier under Quintinie and commonly attributed to that author. The work on floriculture is of course derived from the "Nouvelle instruction pour la culture des fleurs" appended to the edition of La Quintinie, Amsterdam, 1697.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for the integrity of the financial system and for the ability to detect and prevent fraud. The document also notes that records should be kept for a sufficient period of time to allow for a thorough review if necessary.

In addition, the document highlights the need for transparency and accountability in all financial dealings. It states that all transactions should be clearly documented and that the responsible parties should be identified and held accountable for their actions.

The second part of the document outlines the specific procedures for recording transactions. It provides a step-by-step guide to ensure that all transactions are recorded accurately and consistently.

- All transactions must be recorded in the appropriate ledger or journal.
- The date, amount, and description of the transaction must be clearly stated.
- The responsible party must be identified and their signature or initials must be placed next to the entry.
- The entry must be balanced and the total must be calculated.
- The entry must be reviewed and approved by the appropriate authority.
- The entry must be filed in the appropriate location for future reference.

The third part of the document discusses the importance of regular audits and reviews. It states that audits are necessary to ensure that the financial system is operating correctly and that all transactions are properly recorded. It also notes that audits can help to identify areas for improvement and to prevent future problems.

- Audits should be conducted regularly and by an independent party.
- The results of the audit should be reported to the appropriate authority.
- Any discrepancies or errors should be investigated and corrected.
- The audit should provide a basis for improving the financial system.

The fourth part of the document discusses the importance of training and education for all personnel involved in the financial system. It states that proper training is essential for ensuring that all transactions are recorded accurately and consistently.

Finally, the document concludes by emphasizing the importance of maintaining the highest standards of integrity and accountability in all financial dealings. It states that proper record-keeping and regular audits are essential for ensuring the integrity of the financial system.

----- Venezia, 1723. 55 p. F°. (Davis & Orioli, Cat.23 (1927), no.128)

Davis & Orioli describe as having at the end a treatise on flowers, evidently like the 1704 ed. This issue is noted by Haller, Miltitz, and Niccoli, and copies have been advertised by Dulaup Cat.22, no.437, and Cat.150, no.159.

Pages 103-194 in "Bewährte garten-geheimnisse" (1735); "Wohl-bewährte garten-geheimnisse" (1752); and "Wohlbewährtes garten-buch" (1758); probably same in all editions of this work.

Der wohlbestellte garten-bau, oder Gründliche anweisung wie ein küchen-, blumen- und baum-garten nicht allein wohl anzulegen, sondern auch mit nützlichen gewächsen, lust bringenden blumen und auserlesenen bäumen, sowohl von ausländischen als einheimischen arten zu besetzen &c. Wobey (1) ein medicinisch kräuterbuch; (2) ein monatlich memorial; (3) ein unterricht von bienen-wartung. Leipzig, H. F. Hoffmann, 1705. 688 p.

Probably issued without the author's full name, under initials "A. D. I." or "A. D. J." Title as given above chiefly follows Miltitz, col. 296, anonymous entry, but giving number of pages, not recorded elsewhere. The supplementary matter and publisher's name are found only in Boehmer, Bib. Script. Hist. Nat. 3(1):695. Boehmer enters under "A. D. I.". Seguiet, Bib. Bot., p.407, has very brief title, said to be "ab A. D. J." Is it possible the "A." may have been a misreading of the German capital "R.", and that these initials may have been intended for "R. Dahuron Jardinier"?

----- Der wohl-bestellte garten-bau oder Gründliche anweisung, wie ein küchen-, blum- und baum-garten wohl anzulegen und in stand zu erhalten sey. Wobei ein medicinalisches kräuterbuch, ein monatlich memorial, wornach die garten-arbeit einzurichten, ein unterricht von der bienen-wartung. Zelle, 1723. 644, 96 p., 12 pl. (Dultz, Ant.-Kat. 3, no.793; under Dahuron)

This must be identical with the entry of Miltitz, col. 299, for 3d ed. of "Vollständiger garten-bau". It seems likely that Miltitz or his authority may have accepted the existence of the 3d ed. on the basis of an allusion in some later issue. In all probability there was an ed. between those of 1705 and 1723, and there must have been one at least, between the latter and the "Vollständiger garten-bau" of 1738.

The first part of the paper discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It is essential for the business to have a clear and concise record of all income and expenses. This will allow the business to track its financial performance over time and identify areas for improvement. The second part of the paper discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all assets and liabilities. This will allow the business to track its net worth over time and identify areas for improvement. The third part of the paper discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all debts and obligations. This will allow the business to track its financial obligations over time and identify areas for improvement. The fourth part of the paper discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all taxes and other legal obligations. This will allow the business to track its financial obligations over time and identify areas for improvement. The fifth part of the paper discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all other financial information. This will allow the business to track its financial performance over time and identify areas for improvement.

----- Vollständiger garten-bau, darinnen sowohl von einheimischen als ausländischen gewächsen, blumen und bäumen gründliche nachricht gegeben wird, nebst einem nützlichen unterricht von der biennen wartung; vom baumbeschneiden; und der rechten baumzucht; samt einem verzeichniss des besten frantz-obsts. 5. aufl. Weimar & Zelle, 1738. (Darmstadt, Gartenbau-Verein, Verzeichn. Bücher [1875] p.7)

Many variations in titles recorded, but all indicate practical identity with that of the 7th ed. from which above is taken. This ed. is noted by Haller, Bib. Bot. 2:10; Miltitz, Bib. Bot. col.299; and Weigel, Lager-Kat. n.f. 165, no.171. Tesnier, in his sketch of Dahuron, Le Jardin, 28/29:94-95 (Mar.20,1914), mentions this as if it were the earliest issue of a work that went thru many editions. Presumably there may be little difference between the later issues, recorded as follows:

Weimar, 1743 (Haller, l.c.; Miltitz, l.c.; and copy located in Bib. Ver. Pomol. u. Gartenbau, Meiningen; according to its "Katalog" (1883), p.4); Celle, 1753 (Haller, l.c.); 7. aufl., Weimar, S.H.Hoffmann, 1757, 684 p., 12 pl. (Liby. Cong.); Weimar, Hoffmann, 1763 (Dochnahl, p.32); 8. aufl., Weimar, C. L. Hoffmann, 1769, 684 p. (Cat. Bib. Nat. Paris, 35:172; also noted by Haller, l.c.; Miltitz, l.c.; Kayser, Bücher-Lexikon, 2:3; Lüneburg, Kat. 92, no.129; also listed by Heinsius, who gives place of publication as Vienna, instead of Weimar, evidently an error easily explained.)

At the same time, the Commission has been working closely with the Government of the Republic of Serbia to ensure that the process of reform is transparent and accountable. The Commission has also been engaged in a series of consultations with civil society organizations and other stakeholders to gather their views on the proposed reforms.

1. The following information was obtained from the records of the Department of the Interior, Bureau of Land Management, for the year 1964:

[illegible]

Danreiter, Franz Anton

Die garten prospect von Hellbrun. (Les prospects du jardin d'Hellbrun.) Aug[ustae] Vind[elicorum, 1760?] F^o. (Brit. Mus.)

Lust-stück der gärten neu ersonnen durch F. A. Danreiter und in kupfer verlegt ... von J. A. Pfeffel. (Parterres, ou Broderies des jardins, etc.) Ausspurg [1750?] 22 pl. without letterpress. Oblong f^o. (Brit. Mus.)

See also Dezallier d'Argenville, Antoine Joseph. [La théorie et la pratique du jardinage] Die gärtnerney, sowohl in ihrer theorie oder betrachtung, als praxis oder übung. Ausspurg, 1731 et seq.

Dany, frère (Dany, François, or Nicolas). See Brossard, David.

Darci, Giovanni (Darces, Jean). See Palladius, R.T.A. [De re rustica] Les treize livres des choses rustiques. Paris, 1554.

D'Argenville, Antoine Joseph Dezallier. See Dezallier d'Argenville, Antoine Joseph.

D'Argenville, Antoine Nicolas Dezallier. See Dezallier d'Argenville, Antoine Nicolas.

Dauling, Johann G.

Der deutsche baumgärtner, nach der grund- und lehresätzen der berühmtesten männer in der gärtnerney, besonders des französischen Quintinye, des englischen Miller, und des deutschen Reichart. Hrsg. von Joh. G. Dauling. Schleusingen, 1764. (Dochnahl, p.12; Haller, 2:542)

Both these entries are under title, but Dochnahl gives reference from Dauling, who seems to be merely an editor or compiler.

----- Eisenach, 1770. (Dochnahl, l.c.)

----- 2. auflage. Eisenach, Bäcker, 1773. (Dochnahl, l.c.; Kat. Meiningen, p.24; Verz. Darmstadt, p.14)

Dochnahl says "2d ed. with plates"; Koehler, Ant.-Kat. (1932), no.5002, advertised a copy of this ed. with 5 pl.

Handwritten, 1940, 1941

The first of these was the 1940-41 season, when the first of the series was published, and the second in 1941.

The second of these was the 1941-42 season, when the second of the series was published, and the third in 1942.

The third of these was the 1942-43 season, when the third of the series was published, and the fourth in 1943.

The fourth of these was the 1943-44 season, when the fourth of the series was published, and the fifth in 1944.

The fifth of these was the 1944-45 season, when the fifth of the series was published, and the sixth in 1945.

The sixth of these was the 1945-46 season, when the sixth of the series was published, and the seventh in 1946.

The seventh of these was the 1946-47 season, when the seventh of the series was published, and the eighth in 1947.

The eighth of these was the 1947-48 season, when the eighth of the series was published, and the ninth in 1948.

The ninth of these was the 1948-49 season, when the ninth of the series was published, and the tenth in 1949.

The tenth of these was the 1949-50 season, when the tenth of the series was published, and the eleventh in 1950.

The eleventh of these was the 1950-51 season, when the eleventh of the series was published, and the twelfth in 1951.

Davanzati (or Davanzati Bostichi), Bernardo (1529-1606)

La coltivazione toscana delle viti, e d'alcuni arbori.
45 p. (With Soderini, Giovanni Vittore. Trattato delle coltivazione delle viti. Firenze, per F. Giunti, 1600) (Lib. Cong.; Arn. Arb.; Brit. Mus.; Bib. Nat. Paris;
Bib. Min. Agr. Italy)

Apparently the title sometimes reads: "Colti-vazione toscana," sometimes "Toscana coltivazione," and some of the following may be incorrect.
Niccoli, Saggio storico e bibliografico dell'ag-ricoltura italiana (1902), p.45, records eds. of 1600, 1621, 1627, 1638, 1727, 1734, 1756 & 1779, all under "Coltivazione toscana," altho some of these have varying titles. This confusion probably arises from the fact that Davanzati's work was first published and several times reissued with that of Soderini, which sometimes precedes and sometimes follows it. (MFW)

----- (In Soderini, G. V. Coltivazione toscana delle viti, e d'alcuni alberi. Firenze, 1610) (Brit. Mus.)

This edition was presumably published by the Giunti, and is probably like that of 1622. Re, Diz. Rag. Lib. Agr. 4:65, gives title as "Colti-vazione toscana delle viti, e d'alcuni alberi," as in the later ed., with imprint as: "Firenze, Giunti, 1610, 1622."

----- Toscana coltivazione delle viti e delli arbori.
Firenze, appresso i Giunti, 1621. 36 p. (With Soderi-ni, G. V. Coltivazione toscana delle viti, e d'alcuni al-beri. Firenze, appresso i Giunti, 1622) (Lib. Cong.; Arn. Arb.; Bib. Nat. Paris; Bib. Min. Agr. Italy)

Arn. Arb. and Bib. Nat. Paris treat this as an independent work with d& e 1621; while Lib.
Cong. printed card shows it as part of the edition of Soderini with same imprint, pub. 1622.

----- Coltivazione toscana delle viti & d'alcuni arbori.
Firenze, Giunti, 1627. (Molon, Ampelografia, p.219)

----- (In his Scisma d'Inghilterra ... Con altre sue operette non piú stampate. In Fiorenza, nella nuova stamperia del Massi e Landi, 1637. p.152-201) (Bib. Nat.
Paris)

Cat. Bib. Nat. Paris does not bring out the "Coltivazione toscana delle viti" in this edition of the "Scisma d'Inghilterra," but it has precisely the same number of pages as the edition published in 1638, to which the Arnold Arboretum catalog refers an edition of the "Coltivazione."
The first edition of the "Scisma" (Roma, 1602) has only 99 p., and apparently does not include the "Coltivazione." (MFW)

1. The first step in the process is to identify the problem or issue that needs to be addressed. This involves gathering information and understanding the context of the problem.

----- (In his Scisma d'Inghilterra. Fiorenza, Massi e Landi, 1638. p.152-201) (Arn. Arb.; Bib. Nat. Paris)
 According to Cat. Bib. Nat. this issue must be identical with the preceding. (MFW)
 Molon, Ampelografia, p.219, gives an edition of the "Coltivazione" with this imprint without connecting it with the "Scisma d'Inghilterra."

----- Firenze, Manni, 1734. (Molon, Ampelografia, p. 219; Niccoli, Saggio Stor. e Bib. Agr. Ital., p.45)
 We find no confirmation of this issue, tho it might possibly have been republished at the same time with Soderini's work with the same imprint. Soderini, 1734, throws no light on this point.

----- (In his Scisma d'Inghilterra. Padova, presso G. Comino, 1727) (Bib. Nat. Paris)

David, Antoine

Culture du pêcheur en buisson. Aix, 1783. 4 pts.
 350 p. (Junk, Cat. 47, no.205)

Junk enters under bracketed name, [David, A] but Cat. Bib. Nat. 36:230 enters other contemporary works under "Antoine" David of Aix, and this is probably by the same. He may have been a publisher or compiler. Cat. Bib. Nat. 33:728, gives under Couture: "Dissertation sur l'origine de l'olivier", extracted from Couture's "Traité de l'olivier", with imprint: Aix, A. David, 1786. Couture's "Traité" was also published Aix, 1786, but Brit. Mus. Cat. does not give name of publisher, possibly A. David. (MFW)

Lettre sur les oliviers (par A. David, 23 décembre 1762)
 [n.p., n.d.] 28 p. (Bib. Nat. Paris)

Lettres d'Antoine David sur les oliviers. Nouvelle éd.
 avec des notes de M. Feissat aîné. Marseille, Feissat aîné, 1832. 60 p. (Bib. Nat. Paris)

David, Michel, publisher

Sometimes credited with authorship of anonymous works of Louis Liger, which may have been pirated or garbled by him. Privileges originally granted to Damien Beugnié or Beugnier appear to have been transferred to David. See following under Liger, Louis: Le ménage des champs et le jardinier françois (1711); Nouveau cuisinier françois (1714); Nouveau jardinier françois (1715); Le nouveau théâtre d'agriculture et ménage des champs (1713)

Davy, frère. See Brossard, David.

Davy, Nicolas

Cat. Bib. Nat. Paris, 36:414, enters under him "Quatre traictez utiles et delectables de l'agriculture" (1560), but evidently only as an attribution, not as actual author. It is probable that the use of this name came about through an attempt to amplify the "Fr. Davy" or "Fr. Dany" applied to David Brossard, or may have been a hybrid between it and Nicolas Du Mesnil, author of another of the "Quatre traictez". There was an actual Nicolas Davy, "Abbé du Grand Saint-Crespin" (See Cat. Bib. Nat.) whose name might have been borrowed to dignify the work of the modest "Frère Davy". (MFW)

See Savastano, Luigi. Contributo allo studio degli scrittori agrari italici, III. Ann. R. Staz. Sper. Agrumic. e Fruttic. Acireale, 6:110-115 (1922). Savastano, who has made an exhaustive study of Crescenzi, indicates this as the earliest ed. containing the treatise of Dei Corno, otherwise called Gorgole de Corne.

Savastano, l.c., p.114, has special title: "La maniere de enter planter et nourrir tous arbres: selon le jugement de maistre Gorgole de Corne". Altho the work of a Florentine gardener, Savastano considers this the beginning of a French system of fruit culture, as it shows modifications adapting it to French conditions. (MFW)

Del Riccio, Agostino, frate

Lived in Florence in latter part of 16th century. Targioni-Tozzetti, "Notizie sulla storia delle scienze fisiche in Toscana" (1852) p.241, says padre del Riccio wrote about the gardens of the Granduca Francesco de' Medici in his "Agricoltura sperimentale", cap.15, p. 232. This work, and his "Libro delle piante, specialmente cretiche, coltivate nel giardino de' semplici in Firenze", are in MS. Cf. Saccardo, Bot. Ital. 1:64; 2:41. His MS, "Fiori che fioriscono mese per mese nel 1592 e che erano in detto tempo in Firenze (De' fiori che Jo. F. A. Del Riccio trova in Firenze per vista che fioriscono nei 12 mesi del anno)", has been published by Mattiolo with critical notes and modern determinations of plants, in Boll. Soc. Tosc.ortic. 25:194-202, 226-234, 261-271 (1900). Mattiolo's article, entitled "Il calendario di Flora per Firenze secondo il manoscritto dell' anno 1592 di frate Agostino Del Riccio", has a historical introduction on Italian botany in the 16th century, and a list of Del Riccio's supposed MSS on p.198. Dear Sirs, I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 11th inst. and in reply to inform you that the same has been forwarded to the proper authorities for their consideration.

1. The first of these is the fact that the
2. Government has failed to provide for the
3. needs of the people in the most effective
4. manner possible. This is due to a number
5. of causes, including the lack of a
6. unified policy and the failure to
7. coordinate the efforts of the various
8. departments. The result has been a
9. waste of resources and a failure to
10. meet the needs of the people.

Dezallier d'Argenville, Antoine Joseph (1680-1765)

La théorie et la pratique du jardinage. 1709 et seq.

Michaud, Biog. Univ. 11:274-276 (1814), gives an account of the vicissitudes of this work, but neither this nor the statement of Gibault, Étude (1905), p.737-738, quite agrees with the evidence of the editions examined. Michaud intimates that it was originally signed with the initials: "L.S. A.J.D.A.", for which the printer substituted the name Le Blond, apparently in the 1st ed., while Gibault definitely says the 1st ed. appeared under these initials, which were replaced by the spurious name in the 2d ed., 1713. As a matter of fact, the 1st ed., Paris, J. Mariette, 1709 (copy in the Dept. Agr.), contains no trace of the author's identity, unless it may have been suggested in some missing preliminary leaf. The "Approbation" shows the name of Mariette alone.

The ed. of La Haye, Pierre Husson, 1711, is probably a reprint of that of Paris, 1709, and is likewise without the author's name. Probably this is also the case with the ed. of Amsterdam, 1711, which is entered by the Brit. Mus. under its title, without any attribution whatever. The total anonymity of the original ed. is also suggested by the fact that the 1st English edition, London, 1712, in default of the author's name, is often entered under that of the translator, John James; while the 2d English ed., which includes in its title the name Alexander Le Blond, is commonly entered under the latter.

So far as has been discovered, the first use of the initials "L.S.A.J.D.A." was in the "Nouv. éd.", Paris, J. Mariette, 1713, and they are also in Husson's reprint, La Haye, 1715. Cat. Bib. Nat. 40:215, according to its custom, includes the initials in the title of the book, following them by the true name in brackets. It is impossible for me to tell just when the name Le Blond was introduced, as none of the issues between 1715 and 1722 have been examined, nor are they fully described in bibliographies. Seguiet, Bib. Bot., p.341-342, enters the following eds. under Le Blond, Alexander: Paris, 1709, 1722; Amsterdam, 1711; La Haye, 1711, 1716, 1740, and English eds., London, 1712 & 1728. Then on p.408 Seguiet repeats some of them as anonymous. Presumably the authorship of this book was either unknown or in grave doubt in Seguiet's time (1740). The ed. of Paris, J. Mariette, 1722, certainly gives the name Le Blond in its title, and it may have been used earlier. On the other hand, the so-called 3d ed., La Haye, J. M. Husson, 1739, has the initials "L.S.A.J.D.A."

According to Michaud, Dezallier d'Argenville revised his book in 1747, adding for the first time a treatise on hydraulics. This and the ed. of 1760 are called "4. éd., revue, corrigée" &c., the author being indicated in the title as "M, de l'Académie royale des sciences de Montpellier".

Bouchard-Huzard, Bib. sur les constructions rurales et sur la disposition des jardins, 2me éd., 1870, p.973, was not consulted in the preparation of the foregoing notes, but substantially confirms our main points. He indicates that the name Le Blond was used only in the ed. of Paris, Mariette, 1722, and that this was an error solely due to the fact that Le Blond had drawn the plates for the work. This was corrected in the following ed., and the author's initials again substituted.

We therefore conclude: (1) that the book never was issued under the author's own name; (2) that the original ed. was strictly anonymous; (3) that the initials "L.S.A.J.D.A." were inserted in the "Nouv. éd., Paris, 1713; (4) that the name of Le Blond was substituted for these initials only in 1722 (tho the error was perpetuated in the English eds. and in many bibliographical records); and (5) that at a much later period there were authorized eds. in which the name of the writer was indicated by the pen name "M, de l'Académie royale [etc.] (MFW)

Diel, August Friedrich Adrian (1756-1839)

Diel's published work belongs chiefly to the 19th century, and is not included here. It may be mentioned that his "Anleitung zu einer obstorangerie in scherben" was pub. Frankfurt a. M., 1796, with a 2d ed. under title "Ueber die anlegung einer obstorangerie in scherben" in 1798, and Heft 1 of his "Versuch einer systematischen beschreibung in Deutschland vorhandener kernobstsorten" was pub. 1799.

Erlustierende augenweide in vorstellung herrlicher garten und lustgebäude. Aug[ustae] Vind[elicorum] Ieremias Wolff excudit [1720?] 48 plates. Oblong F°. (N. Y. Bot. Gard.; Brit. Mus.)

Author's name in preface is signed: "Mathias Disel".

There is considerable discrepancy in the dates that have been assigned by different libraries. Grisebach, "Der Garten", p.122, says this work was pub. about 1720. N. Y. Bot. Gard. assigns queried dates [1725?] to the original work and [1730?] to the "Zweyte fortsetzung". The Brit. Mus. Cat. gives [1730?] to both original and "Erste fortsetzung".

----- Erste fortsetzung. Aug[ustae] Vind[elicorum] [1730?] Oblong F°. (Brit. Mus.)

----- Zweyte fortsetzung. Aug[ustae] Vind[elicorum] [1730?] 43 plates. Oblong F°. (N. Y. Bot. Gard.)

Domitzer (Domnitzer, Donitzer, or Donizer), Johann.
Pflantzbüchlein. 1529 et seq.

Pritzel, 1st ed., no.2674, says nothing is known of this author and nobody has seen his book since Camerarius and Fuioren ("Bib. Med. Henrici Fuioren"). Pritzel also remarks that Haller (Bib. Bot. 1:297) queried whether this might be a work of Lonitzer, presumably under a mistaken spelling, but that Abraham Kall, "Programma ad promotionem P. Thorstensen" (1775), p.6, concluded the two authors were distinct. We do not have access to Kall's work, but it seems rather improbable that Adam Lonitzer, the botanist, born in 1528, could have produced the work mentioned by Haller as "Johann Donizer De stirpium cultura. Francf. 1547." The latter date, however, falls within the period of literary activity of Adam's father, Johann Lonitzer (1499-1569), and the fact that Domitzer had the same forename adds to the interest of Haller's conjecture.

Moreover, there must have been many issues of this work without the author's name. It is bracketed in many bibliographies, and many titles are entered anonymously. The variety of spellings for the author's name may have resulted from the fact that it rarely appeared in his book. In recent times Pritzel's spelling, "Domitzer," is generally accepted, altho Camerarius, the earliest authority we can find for this work, spells it "Donitzer." Seguiet and Haller both give it as "Donizer," possibly after Münchhausen; it is spelled "Donnizer" by Boehmer; "Domnitzer" by Miltitz; and "Donnitzer" by Burchardt. Camerarius is also sometimes cited for the Latin title quoted by Haller: "De stirpium cultura," but in his "De re rustica opuscula nonnulla" (Noribergae, 1577, 52d leaf), the book is entered as "Ioannis Donitzer pflantzbüchlein. in 8. anno 1547. Francof." This clearly shows the title was German, not Latin, and there is little doubt that the book itself was a German text. This being the case, we think there never was a Latin edition of this work.

The edition listed by Camerarius is more widely known than the other German ones, but the book was many times republished from 1529 to 1598, and in the 17th century there were three issues of a Danish version. It was rather vaguely entered in the first edition of Pritzel's "Thesaurus" (1851), but is one of the few works of horticultural as distinguished from botanical scope that are found in the 2d ed. (1872), where the entry under Domitzer is an altogether new one, suggesting that the discovery of one or two copies of such a rare work may have justified its reinstatement after it had originally been intended to omit it from the new edition.

There is enough similarity in title between Domitzer's book and the "Lustgärten und pflanzung mit wunsamer zyerde," first published at Augsburg, 1530, by H. Stayner, who also published a "Pflantzbüchlein" in 1534, so that the two may have sometimes been confused. But the contents of the two books show considerable differences both in style and scope. Domitzer's book relates especially to the growing and training of fruit trees, and does not give so much on gardening in general as the "Lustgärten," neither does it present so many fanciful notions and superstitions. But inasmuch as the copy of Domitzer's work examined was published in 1587, it may have been greatly revised and improved since the original edition of 1529.

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for the transparency and accountability of the organization. This section also outlines the various methods used to collect and analyze data, ensuring that the information is reliable and up-to-date.

2. The second part of the document focuses on the financial aspects of the organization. It provides a detailed breakdown of the budget, including income, expenses, and the resulting surplus or deficit. This section also discusses the various financial risks and how they are managed to ensure the long-term stability of the organization.

3. The third part of the document addresses the operational aspects of the organization. It describes the various departments and their functions, as well as the processes used to coordinate and manage these activities. This section also discusses the various challenges faced by the organization and how they are being addressed.

4. The fourth part of the document discusses the future of the organization. It outlines the various goals and objectives for the coming year, as well as the strategies used to achieve them. This section also discusses the various risks and challenges that the organization may face in the future and how they are being managed.

5. The fifth part of the document discusses the various stakeholders of the organization. It identifies the various groups and individuals who have an interest in the organization and their respective roles. This section also discusses the various ways in which the organization interacts with these stakeholders and how it ensures that their interests are being met.

6. The sixth part of the document discusses the various legal and regulatory requirements that the organization must comply with. It outlines the various laws and regulations that apply to the organization and the steps taken to ensure compliance. This section also discusses the various risks associated with non-compliance and how they are being managed.

7. The seventh part of the document discusses the various ethical considerations that the organization must take into account. It outlines the various ethical principles and standards that the organization adheres to and the steps taken to ensure that these principles are being followed. This section also discusses the various risks associated with unethical behavior and how they are being managed.

8. The eighth part of the document discusses the various environmental considerations that the organization must take into account. It outlines the various environmental principles and standards that the organization adheres to and the steps taken to ensure that these principles are being followed. This section also discusses the various risks associated with environmental damage and how they are being managed.

9. The ninth part of the document discusses the various social considerations that the organization must take into account. It outlines the various social principles and standards that the organization adheres to and the steps taken to ensure that these principles are being followed. This section also discusses the various risks associated with social issues and how they are being managed.

10. The tenth part of the document discusses the various technological considerations that the organization must take into account. It outlines the various technological principles and standards that the organization adheres to and the steps taken to ensure that these principles are being followed. This section also discusses the various risks associated with technological issues and how they are being managed.

Domitzer, Johann. Pflantzbüchlein.

What appears to be the earliest edition of this work, printed by Gabriel Kantz, Zwickaw, 1529, was listed in Pritzel's "Thesaurus literaturae botanicae" (Ed.2, 1872, no.2363), but has not since been authenticated. Copies of the "Pflantzbüchlein" were seen in preparation of the Bradley Bibliography, but were cataloged too inadequately for identification with other records, and their library locations have been lost.

The following have been located in libraries

- 1530. Ein neuwes, fast hübsch, unnd nutzliches Pflantzbüchlin. Von mancherley artiger Pflantzung un Beltzung der Bäum ... M.D.XXX. Stadtbibliothek Mainz, reported by Güntz, Handb. Landw. Litt. 1:107, and described by F. W. E. von Roth, Centralblatt für Bibliothekswesen, 19:285-286 (1902). It has neither printer's name nor place of publication, but the name of Johan Domitzer is at end of the preface.
- 1534. Ein neues Pflantzbüchlin, von mancherley artiger Pfropffung und Beltzung der beum. Augspurg, Haynrich Steyner, 1534. Library of Landbouwhoogeschool, Wageningen, Holland.
- 1551. Pflantzbüchlin von mancherley artiger Pfropffung und Beltzung der bäum. Franckfurdt am Mayn, Herman Gölferich, 1551. British Museum.
- 1587. Pflantzbüchlein von mencherley artiger Lustgärten. Franckfurt am Mayn, Nicolaus Basseus, 1587. Anonymous. U. S. Dept. Agriculture.
- 1598. Pflantzbüchlein von mancherley artiger Lustgärten. Leipzig, 1598. Anonymous. Library of Landbouwhoogeschool, Wageningen.

Anonymous issues of 1587 and 1598 are probably alike. I think them editions of the original work of 1529, but enlarged and much garbled. The word "Lustgärten" in their titles may indicate the incorporation of much of the "Lustgärten und Pflantzungen mit wunsamer zierd", first printed in 1530. Parts of both works are used in the introductory chapter on gardening in Lonitzer's "Kreuterbuch", 1557 and later editions, which probably gave rise to Haller's query whether the "Pflantzbüchlein" could be a work by Lonitzer. The nature and extent of the changes in later issues might be obtained by comparing the 1534 and 1598 copies at Wageningen.

Many issues appeared without the author's name, or have it only in the preface, and I suspect that Domitzer was an editor rather than author of the work, who may have been an almost unknown Wolfgang Schmatz, a gardener of Reichenbach in Saxony. (M. F. Warner -- February, 1949)

Domitzer, Johann

Ein news Pflantz/buechlein. Von/mancherley artiger/pfropffung vñ Bel/tzung der Bawm. Gedruckt zu Zwickaw/durch Gabriel Kantz. M.D.XXIX. 28 ff. (Pritzel, 2d ed., no.2363) not/ Pritzel gives no location for this, but the title looks as tho it had been taken from a veritable copy of the work. Bradley Bib. 3:135, gives the title as "Ein neüwes fast hübsch unnd nutzliches pflantzbüchlein von mancherley artiger pflantzung, impffung un beltzung der ~~bäum~~" (n.p.,1529), [45] p. The author's name is bracketed in this entry, which is not marked with the dagger that usually indicates that the book has been seen. If this entry in Bradley Bib. represents an actual copy, there may be two editions of 1529, as the discrepancies in title and collation and the absence of imprint are hard to reconcile. It should also be noted that the title in Bradley Bib. is practically identical with that of the edition of 1530 quoted by Guntz. (M.F.W.)

----- Ein neues fast hübsch und nutzliches pflantzbüchlein von mancherley artiger pflantzung, impffung und beltzung der ~~bäum~~. [n.p.] 1530. (Stadtbibliothek, Mainz)

Title as quoted by Guntz, Handb. Landw. Litt. 1:107, is probably accurate. It is identical with the one given by Bradley Bib. 3:135, for the edition of 1529.

----- Ein neues pflantzbüchlin von mancherley artiger pfropffung und beltzung der beym. [n.p.] 1531. (Imperial Library, Vienna)

Title from Bradley Bib. 3:159, which does not indicate that the copy has been seen. The edition is noted by Pritzel, 1st ed., no.2674, with location "Bib. Caes. Vindob." i.e. Imperial Library, Vienna. Pritzel does not, however, give title or collation.

----- Getruckt zu Augspurg durch Haynrich Stayner, 1534. [54] p. (Wageningen, no.22734)

Title, practically identical with the preceding, in Wageningen, Bul.-Cat. IV (1930), no.11. Paging is taken from Bradley Bib. 3:159; Pritzel, 1st ed., no.2674, gives same number of pages without brackets.

----- "Voigts pflanzbüchlein." Breslau, 1541. (Boehmer, Bib. Script. Hist. Nat. 3(1):671)

This may have no connection with Domitzer, but it looks very suggestive. (MFW)

----- "Ioannis Donitzer [sic] pflantzbüchlein. in 8. anno 1547. Francof." (Camerarius, De re rustica opuscula nonnulla, (1577), 52d leaf)

Pritzel, 1st ed., no.2674, credits to Camerarius, but gives title in Latin: "De stirpium cultura," altho Camerarius gives only the German. Seguiet, p.358, also cites Camerarius under Latin title, and Haller, 1:297, gives the Latin title, citing Münchhausen's "Hausvater."

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry, no matter how small, should be recorded to ensure the integrity of the financial data. This section also covers the need for regular audits and the role of internal controls in preventing errors and fraud.

The second part of the document details the various methods used to collect and analyze financial data. It describes the process of gathering information from different sources, such as bank statements, invoices, and receipts. It also discusses the use of statistical tools and software to process this data and generate meaningful reports.

The third part of the document focuses on the presentation of financial information. It outlines the standards for formatting reports and the importance of clear, concise communication. It also discusses the role of management in interpreting the data and making informed decisions based on the findings.

The final part of the document provides a summary of the key points discussed and offers recommendations for improving the financial reporting process. It stresses the importance of ongoing education and training for all staff involved in the process, as well as the need for continuous improvement and innovation in financial management.

----- Frankfurt am Mayn, 1550. (Miltitz, Bib. Bot., col. 284; Burchardt, Teutscher Obstgärtner, 15:324)

Miltitz spells name "Domnitzer," and gives both Latin and German titles; Burchardt gives "Donnitzers Pflanzbüchlein," citing Rohr, "Haushaltungs-Bibl." p.380.

----- Pflantzbüchlein, von mancherley artiger pfropffung und beltzung der bäumen. Franckfurdt am Mayn, Hermann Gölfferich, 1551. 28 ff. (Brit. Mus.)

The previous edition may be identical with this. Bradley Bib. 3:159, gives undated edition of Frankfurt with title closely resembling the above, but with [44] p., which may correspond to one of the two preceding issues, or may represent yet another early Frankfurt edition. (MFW)

----- "Büchlein von mancherley lustgärten." Strassburg, 1580. (Boehmer, Bib. Script. Hist. Nat. 3(1):674; Miltitz, Bib. Bot., col.285)

May possibly be issue of "Lustgärten und pflanzungen mit wunsamer zyerde," but has title which suggests the following ed. of Domitzer. (MFW)

----- Pflantzbüchlein/von mancherley artiger lustgärten/nutzbarn vnd seltzamen pfröpffung von allerhand bäumen/kräutern/blumen vnd fruchten/wilder und heymischer/&c. Title as given in Wageningen Cat. is practically identical with that of Dept. Agr. copy of 1587.

Boehmer does not credit this to Domitzer. He characterizes the book as "nullius usus," hence we conclude he must have actually examined it.

----- [Danish] En nyttig Plante Bog, om Mange Slags artige Imper oc Poder, oc huorledis mand skal saette allehande Fruct oc Trae. Kjøbenhavn, 1602. (Pritzel, 1st ed., no. 2674; Mariboe, p.32, no.253; Warming, Bot. Tidsskr. (1880), 12:46; Bay, Bot. Tidsskr. (1890), 17:317)

The Danish version seems to be generally known, altho we do not find it in Kat. Landb. Bib. Kjøbenhavn. Pritzel credits this 1602 edition to "Bib. Med. Henrici Fuiren," i.e. collection of Henricus Fuiren M.D. It may possibly be listed in "Rariora musei Henrici Fuiren med. Doct., quae Academiae regiae Hafniensi legavit, publici juris facta a Thoma Fuiren" (Hafniae, 1663), copies of which are in Brit. Mus. and Bib. Nat. Paris.

Danish bibliographers appear to be ignorant of the very much earlier German work from which the "Plantebog" was probably translated. Bay's supplement (1890) to the outline of Danish botanical literature of Warming (1880), says the latter suggests that the "Plantebog" is a translation of the Latin "De stirpium cultura" published at Frankfurt in 1547, altho Warming himself does not explicitly say so. But evidently neither Warming nor Bay was aware of the German original, as they cite nothing earlier than the Latin of 1547. There is even considerable doubt whether there ever was a Latin edition, since the only authority that can be discovered for the Latin "De stirpium cultura" (1547) is Camerarius, who in his "De re rustica opuscula nonnulla" (Noribergae, 1577, 52d leaf), does not give a Latin title, but enters the work as "Ioannis Domitzer pflantzbüchlein. in 8. anno 1547. Francof." The Latin title used by Seguiet, Pritzel and others is credited to Camerarius, but this 1547 book certainly had a German title, and was presumably a German work. (MFW)

----- Kjøbenhavn, 1635. 33 p. (Danmarks Havebrug (1920), p.717-718; Mariboe, p.32, no.253)

Danmarks Havebrug gives a brief description of this edition and reproduces its title-page. Mariboe is authority for the paging.

----- Kjøbenhavn, 1639. (Mariboe, l.c.; Winter, Lit. Sci. Nat. Dania & Enchiridion (1829), p.151)

Three issues of the Danish work are generally given by bibliographers, but only the one of 1635 has been adequately described. (MFW)

Work is reviewed in Phil. Trans. Roy. Soc. London, Aug.19,1672, p.5049-5050.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry, no matter how small, should be documented to ensure transparency and accountability. This is particularly crucial in financial reporting, where even minor discrepancies can lead to significant errors over time.

Furthermore, the document highlights the need for regular audits and reviews. By conducting periodic checks, organizations can identify potential issues early on and take corrective action before they escalate. This proactive approach not only helps in maintaining the integrity of the data but also builds trust among stakeholders.

In addition, the document stresses the importance of clear communication and collaboration between different departments. When everyone is on the same page, it becomes easier to spot inconsistencies and address them promptly. This collaborative environment is essential for the smooth operation of any organization.

Overall, the document provides a comprehensive overview of the best practices for record-keeping and data management. It serves as a valuable resource for anyone looking to improve their organizational processes and ensure the highest level of accuracy and reliability in their reporting.

Cat. Bib. Nat. 32:138 gives title: "Sur la formation des jardins, par l'auteur des 'Considérations sur le jardinage' [A. N. Duchesne fils]. Paris, Dorez, 1775." Cat. Bib. Nat. does not give the "Considérations" under Duchesne, and perhaps does not have the work, which in all probability was issued without the author's name, and must be very rare. It is also mentioned by Bouchard-Huzard, p.976, with date given definitely as 1775. (MFW)

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for the transparency and accountability of the organization. This section also outlines the various methods used to collect and analyze data, ensuring that the information is reliable and up-to-date.

2. The second part of the document focuses on the implementation of the proposed changes. It details the steps involved in the rollout process, from initial planning to final execution. This section also addresses potential challenges and provides strategies to overcome them, ensuring a smooth transition to the new system.

3. The third part of the document discusses the ongoing monitoring and evaluation of the project. It highlights the need for continuous communication and collaboration between all stakeholders involved. This section also provides a timeline for the project, with key milestones and deadlines clearly defined.

4. The fourth part of the document concludes with a summary of the findings and recommendations. It reiterates the importance of the project and the need for continued support and resources. This section also provides a final overview of the project's goals and objectives, ensuring that all parties are aligned and committed to the success of the initiative.

Nürnberg, 1651. 206 p. (Brit. Mus.; Wageningen, Bul.-Cat. IV (1930), no.11, 22806)

Güntz, 1:161, gives this as first edition. Haller, 1:161, Seguiet, p.358, and Miltitz, col.287, give one of 1644, but this must be an error for 1664; in fact Miltitz gives collation of 477 p., answering to the latter. Moreover, the author's preface in his 1664 ed. states that he brought out his book in 1651. Miltitz, col.288, also gives an ed. of 1652, which must have been a mere reprint.

Under this name is listed an "Anatomie de la poire", pt.1-2, [Paris] 1730-31, in Rept. Mo. Bot. Gard. (1902) 14:268. It has not been seen by MFW, and no further description of it can be found. It seems likely to have been a reprint from the Mém. Acad. Roy. Sci. Paris, in which other articles by Du Hamel, who may not have been Jean Baptiste, but is probably identical with the author of the above, were published. The following titles of interest to horticulture have been noted: "Recherches sur les causes de la multiplication des especes de fruits". Mém. Acad. Roy. Sci. Paris, 1728, p.477-499 (Arn. Arb.); "De l'importance de l'analogie, & des rapports que les arbres doivent avoir entre eux pour la réussite & la durée des greffes". Mém. Acad. Roy. Sci. Savastano, Ann. R. Staz. Sper. Agrumic. e Fruttic. Acireale (1922) 5:92, 106, 111, mentions a little work entitled "La manie de enter plâter en jardins plusieurs choses bien estranges", supposedly based on Crescenzi and printed by Anthoine Verard at Paris shortly after his French edition of Crescenzi in 1486. Savastano says there were 6 eds. of this between 1500 and 1560, of which the first was certainly and others probably printed at Paris, with exception of one at Lyons, feu Barnab^ete Chaussard. This "opusculum" was revised by Du Mesnil and had two further eds. On the strength of Savastano's opinion we have assigned to Du Mesnil only the undated entries credited to him by Cat. Bib. Nat. and the section under his name in the "Quatre traictez" (1560). The original "opusculum", although by an unknown hand, has been referred to Crescenzi, and entered together with other fragments after his "Opus ruralium commodorum" or "Libro della agricoltura". 1. The first group of people who are interested in the study of the history of the world are the historians. They are people who study the past and try to understand what happened and why it happened. They use a variety of sources, including books, documents, and artifacts, to reconstruct the past. They also try to understand the people who lived in the past and how they thought and felt. Historians are interested in the history of the world because it helps us to understand the world we live in today.

Duve, Jordan.

Dissertatio physica de acceleranda per artem plantarum vegetatione, quam, ad diem 7 jul. 1717, publico philosophorum examini submittit praeses M. Jordan Duve ... et respondens Joannes Justus Crusius. Lipsiae, literis J. G. Bauchi [1717] 20 p. (Bib. Nat. Paris; Brit. Mus.)

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry, no matter how small, should be carefully documented to ensure the integrity of the financial data. This includes recording dates, amounts, and the nature of the transactions.

The second part of the document outlines the procedures for reconciling the accounts. It states that the accounts should be reconciled at the end of each month to identify any discrepancies. This process involves comparing the internal records with the bank statements and ensuring that they match.

The third part of the document describes the methods for analyzing the financial data. It suggests that the data should be analyzed on a regular basis to identify trends and patterns. This can help in making informed decisions about the future of the organization.

The fourth part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining proper documentation. It states that all documents related to the financial transactions should be kept in a secure and organized manner. This includes receipts, invoices, and other supporting documents.

The fifth part of the document outlines the responsibilities of the financial staff. It states that the staff should be trained in the proper use of the accounting system and should be held accountable for the accuracy of the records.

The sixth part of the document discusses the importance of regular audits. It states that the accounts should be audited at least once a year to ensure that they are free from errors and fraud.

The seventh part of the document describes the methods for reporting the financial data. It suggests that the data should be reported in a clear and concise manner, using tables and charts to illustrate the key findings.

The eighth part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining confidentiality. It states that the financial data should be kept confidential and should not be shared with unauthorized personnel.

The ninth part of the document outlines the procedures for handling disputes. It states that any disputes related to the financial transactions should be resolved through a fair and equitable process.

The tenth part of the document discusses the importance of staying up-to-date with the latest accounting practices. It states that the staff should be encouraged to attend training and conferences to stay current in their field.

Thus described in title of his "The gardener's pocket-calendar" (1776). Lady Cecil, Hist. Gard. Eng., 2d ed., p.368, incorrectly refers to him as gardener to the Bishop of London, and also gives the work with date 1779, saying that an earlier ed. is said to have been pub. anonymously in 1770. From the records of known eds. the reverse must be the case, as the author's name is plainly given in the title in 1776, while the Brit. Mus. Cat. has it bracketed in the title of the 1779 ed.

The first part of the paper discusses the importance of understanding the underlying mechanisms of the observed phenomena. It is essential to identify the key factors that influence the system's behavior and to develop a theoretical framework that can explain the observed results. This involves a combination of experimental data and theoretical modeling.

In the second part, we present the experimental setup and the results of the measurements. The data shows a clear trend that is consistent with the theoretical predictions. The results are presented in a series of plots that show the dependence of the measured quantities on the various parameters of the system.

The third part of the paper is devoted to a detailed analysis of the experimental results. We compare the measured values with the theoretical predictions and discuss the sources of the observed discrepancies. It is found that the theoretical model provides a good description of the data, but there are still some differences that need to be investigated further.

Finally, we conclude the paper by summarizing the main findings and suggesting directions for future research. The results of this study provide valuable insights into the behavior of the system and can be used to guide the design of future experiments.

The modern husbandman, or, The practice of farming, London, T. Osborne, 1744. 4 v. (Dept. Agr.)

*3. p. 104 et seq.
7-13-47, 14 v.*

Contents: i. January-March; ii. April-June; iii. July-September; iv. October-December.

Each month has separate title-page and pagination: titles of Ja.-Feb., Apr. dated 1744; May-Sept. dated 1742; Oct.-Dec. dated 1743.

Altho the work is not essentially important in the field of horticulture, it has a few observations on fruits scattered throughout the volumes, and a later ed. is quoted by Hogg in "The Apple", p.xii.

Dept. Agr. has copy of work entitled: "Agriculture improv'd: or, The practice of husbandry ... London, T. Osborne, 1746, 45". in 2 v. This corresponds to the months of May & June, July & August, each month having separate pagination. It is not known whether it was also published with the title "Modern husbandman" for the same dates, but it seems likely that this copy represents part of the work mentioned by Hogg. See also iii, in next entry.

There is an important bibliographical note on this work in Britten, James, "Old country and farming words" (London, 1880), p.viii-x. Britten states that Ellis' "Practical farmer" does not differ greatly from his "Modern husbandman", but the known copies of the former are of much earlier date, and it appears to be a much briefer work than the latter. But the "Modern husbandman" may have been expanded by the inclusion of other early works by Ellis; for instance, his "Chiltern and vale farming explained", noted as Part IV of above edition, was published at least as early as 1733. (MFW)

1. The first of these is the fact that the United States has a large and growing population of people who are not citizens of the United States. This is a result of the large number of people who have been admitted to the United States as permanent residents, and the fact that many of these people have been born in other countries. This is a problem for the United States because it means that there are a large number of people who are not subject to the same laws and regulations as citizens of the United States. Vom garten-baw, oder Unterricht von der gärtnerey auff das clima von der Chur-Marck Brandenburg, wie auch der benachbarten teutschen lünder gerichtet. Cölln an der Spree, Georg Schultze, 1666. 320 p. (Brit. Mus.)

The description of this ed. is a composite from various sources. Authorities differ about its title. Pritzel, 1st ed., no. 2970, gives "Neu angelegter gartenbau", which is followed by some later bibliographers. Seguiet, p.359, gives "Horticultura vom garten-bau in vi. büchern abgefasset", and is the only authority for the printer, Georg Schultze. Mayer, Pomona franconica, 1:xc, and also Burchardt, Der Teutsche Obstgärtner, 15:326, give title "Vom gartenbau", and the earliest eds. seen by us have the same; hence it seems reasonable to use this rather than the title we know to have been used for eds. of 1690 and 1715. The Brit. Mus. Cat. is authority for the paging. 1666 is pretty generally agreed upon as the year of the original ed., altho Burchardt, l.c., gives the date 1664; but as he was quoting Seguiet, this is probably a typographical error. Emanuelis (or Emmanuelis), D.

Almanach jardinier perpetuel, dans lequel on voit mois par mois tout ce qu'il y à faire dans les jardins, fort utile à tous ceux qui se plaisent à cultiver les herbes, les fleurs, & les arbres fruitiers. [Bourg en Bresse, 1692] (Seguier, p.359; Haller, 2:11; Boehmer, 3(1): 729)

Boehmer enters this among late 18th century works, without indicating any reason therefor. Seguier gives no date, while Haller gives together with "La culture des fleurs", Bourg en Bresse, Joseph Ravoux, 1692. Seguier enters the title frankly under Emmanuelis, while Haller implies that he is the author. There is no certainty whether the two are by the same author, or whether either one is by Emanuelis, but they are usually found together and credited to him. (MFW)

----- Ensemble, Le Jardinier perpetuel, dans lequel on voit mois par mois tout ce qu'il à faire dans les jardins. Paris, Claude Prudhomme [16..] (Seguier, p.406)

Entered as anonymous, but the title corresponds rather closely to that of the "Almanach jardinier perpetuel." Altho no date is given, the printer's name, Prudhomme, suggests the very end of the 17th or beginning of the 18th century, as Prudhomme succeeded Charles de Sercey about 1700. (MFW)

La culture des fleurs, ou il est traité généralement de la manière de semer, planter, transplanter, & conserver, toutes sortes de fleurs & arbres, ou arbrisseaux à fleurs; connues en France, & de 12. maximes générales, desquelles il est nécessaire d'être instruit pour pratiquer utilement cette sorte d'agriculture. Bourg en Bresse, Joseph Ravoux, 1692. (Seguier, p.406 (anon.); Haller, 2:11; Lelong, 1:200; Payne, Florist's Bib., p. 62; Ardène, Traité des rénoncules (1746), p.45; also his Traité des ceilleets (1762), p.xxxj)

Ardène, in the first reference cited, indicates plainly that the work is by Emanuelis, and consists of 176 pages. On p.55 he again mentions the book, citing p.126 of the main work, and p.40 of the appended "Almanach". But in his "Traité des œillets", Ardène reverses his opinion, and says the name of the author is not given. He remarks that while other topics are treated succinctly, the carnation is handled in three different repetitions, and that the writer has drawn upon the "Jardinage des œillets" (1647) without wise selection of the best matter, and has tried to conceal the original by substituting some terms in the dialect of his province. Haller says the "Culture des fleurs" is anonymous, and a popular work, containing nothing of moment. Haller observes that Ardène thinks the "Almanach perpetuel" was derived from Morin, and in view of Ardène's remarks on the treatment of the carnation, it looks as if this might be another such work as the "Nouvelle instruction pour la culture des fleurs" (1697) with extracts from all the principal flower books of the time, rearranged and interpolated, so that one oftentimes contradicts the information given in the following chapter, etc. (MEW)

Altho Cat. Bib. Nat. does not indicate that this is imperfect, and Dochnahl, p.44, enters the work as "1.bd., 1.u.2.stück" (1791,1795), there must certainly have been at least another part. Heft 1 was reviewed in Annalen der Bot., 1:130-132 (1791); "1.bd., 2.-3.stück" was noted in Allg. Lit. Ztg., Intelligenzblatt, Mar. 5, 1796, col.237, and again "1.bd., 3.hft." was noted in the same, Jun.8,1796, col.587, with the date "Ostermesse, 1796", implying it was issued at Easter of that year. Evelyn, Charles

The lady's recreation: or, The third and last part of the art of gardening improv'd. Containing, I. The flower-garden; shewing the best ways of propagating all sorts of flowers, flower-trees, and shrubs; with exact directions for their preservation and culture in all particulars. II. The most commodious methods of erecting conservatories, green-houses, and orangeries; with the culture and management of exoticks, fine-greens, evergreens, &c. III. The nature of plantations in avenues, walks, wildernesses, &c. with directions for the raising, pruning, and disposing of all lofty vegetables. IV. Mr. John Evelyn's Kalendarium hortense, methodically reduc'd: interspers'd with many useful additions. By Charles Evelyn, esq; to which are added, some curious observations concerning variegated greens, by the Reverend Mr. Laurence. London, Printed for J. Roberts, 1717. 200 p. (With Laurence, John. The clergyman's recreation. London, 1717) (Dept. Agr.; Arn. Arb.; Mass. Hort. Soc.; Rothamsted)

Altho Cecil, 2d ed., p.353, Haller 2:83-84, and Watt, Bib. Brit. 1:349x, give 1707 as the date of the first issue, the letters quoted in the 1717 ed. in Dept. Agr. are dated 1717 and indicate that Evelyn's work had just been outlined early that year.

There is some doubt, however, as to whether "Charles Evelyn, esq.," whose name appears on the title-page of The lady's recreation, really existed. Altho the supposed author states in the preface, p.i-ii, that Mr. Laurence had been highly pleased with the "design" for this book and refers the reader to two commendatory letters from Laurence inserted at the end, dated Feb. 19, 1716/17 and Mar. 6, 1716/17, Laurence himself the next year denied having approved of the book. On p.j-ij of the preface to his own "The fruit-garden kalendar" published 1718, Laurence says: "Most of our modern authors have done little else but transcribe from Evelyn, Quinteney, and Woolridge ... This leads me to say upon this occasion, for my own sake, and for the sake of the publick, that the book called the Lady's recreation could not be published by my approbation, because it was never seen by me, till it was in print: besides, I have reason to think it was an artifice of the booksellers to impose upon the world, under the borrowed name of Evelyn."

In spite of the fact that Laurence thus expressly disclaims any connection with "The lady's recreation," the work is sometimes credited to him, as by Seguiet, p.375. Martyn, in Miller's Gard. Dict. 1807, 1:xxvi, and Brotherton, in Gard. Chron. III, 45:113 (Feb. 20, 1909), accept Laurence's estimate of the book as a booksellers' artifice. The above-mentioned letters, however, which "Charles Evelyn" represents as signed by Laurence are not explained by the latter at all.

German title entered as anonymous in Gott. Gel. Anz.; Dochnahl and Miltitz enter it under John Evelyn. Dochnahl says it was translated from the English by Th. Arnold. The translator is not generally mentioned, and we can find little about him; but he seems to be the "Theodor Arnold" who made a German version of Mortimer's "Whole art of husbandry," published 1753.

Evelyn, John (1620-1706)

Evelyn's famous Diary covering more than half of the 17th century is of course the best source of knowledge about his life and writings. It was edited by William Bray and first published at London in 1818 with the title: "Memoirs illustrative of the life and writings of John Evelyn, esq., comprising his diary from 1641 to 1705-6, and a selection of his letters." There have been many later editions. A. F. Sieveking in "Garden cuttings from Evelyn's diary" (p.199-256 in "Sir William Temple upon the gardens of Epicurus," 1908) extracts Evelyn's descriptions of the famous gardens he visited and his comments on people and books of interest to gardeners. Some of the same parts are in Sieveking, A. F. The praise of gardens, 1899, p.103-115. See also G. L. Keynes's "John Evelyn; a study in bibliography and a bibliography of his writings." (New York, The Grolier club, 1937)

Acetaria, A discourse of sallets. London, Printed for B. Tooke, 1699. 192 p. (Dept. Agr.; Mass. Hort. Soc.; Brooklyn Bot. Gard.; Brit. Mus.; Lindley)

This was the only chapter published of Evelyn's proposed Elysium Brittanicum. - Cf. "Garden letters" in "Sir William Temple upon the gardens of Epicurus," by A. F. Sieveking, p.171-256.

Peabody and Boston Athen. have copies of Evelyn's "Miscellaneous writings, Now first collected by William Upcott. London, 1825." The Boston Athen. gives dates of contents and assigns 1699 to the Acetaria. Peabody copy is probably the same. The Woman's auxiliary of the Brooklyn Botanic Garden issued a facsimile reprint of the 1699 ed. in 1937, printed by the Haddon craftsmen under the direction of Richard Ellis.

----- (In his Pomona [1729], p.111-181, which is in his Silva. 5th ed. London, 1729) (Mo. Bot. Gard.; Brit. Mus.; Arn. Arb.; Bib. Nat. Paris)

We assume that the other two copies of the 5th ed. of Silva are like that of the Mo. Bot. Gard. whose Cat. explicitly mentions the Aetaria.

Kalendarium hortense: or, The gard'ners almanac: directing what he is to do monethly, throughout the year. London, Printed by J. Macock, for J. Martin, and J. Allestry, 1664. 82 p. (With his Sylva. London, 1664) (Dept. Agr.; Arn. Arb.; Mass. Hort. Soc.; Brooklyn Bot. Gard.; Kew)

The Brit. Mus. Nat. Hist. Cat. says that this was issued both separately and with the Silva, tho it is wanting in the library. The Boston Athen. gives the date of the Kalendarium hortense included in Evelyn's "Miscellaneous writings" (collected by William Upcott. London, 1825) as 1664. Peabody, Arn. Arb., and other libraries also have the "Miscellaneous writings," with presumably the same date for the Kalendarium.

----- (With his Silva. 5th ed. London, 1729. p.[47]-110) (Mo. Bot. Gard.; Arn. Arb.; Princeton; Univ. Chicago; Brit. Mus.; Bib. Nat. Paris)

Sylva, or A discourse of forest-trees, and the propagation of timber in His Majesties dominions. To which is annexed Pomona or, An appendix concerning fruit-trees in relation to cider; the making and several ways of ordering it. Published by express order of the Royal society. Also Kalendarium hortense; or, Gard'ners almanac; directing what he is to do monethly throughout the year ... London, Printed by J. Martyn, and J. Allestry, printers to the Royal society, 1664. 120, 82 p. F°. (Dept. Agr.; Arn. Arb.; Brooklyn Bot. Gard.; Mass. Hort. Soc.; Brit. Mus.; Kew; Lindley)

----- To which is annexed Pomona ... also Kalendarium hortense. 2d ed. London, J. Martyn and J. Allestry, 1669. F°. (Lowndes, 2:766)

No copy of the 2d ed. bearing the date 1669 has been located for this bibliography, but the entry of Lowndes is borne out by the Phil. Trans. Roy. Soc. London, 4(Nov.1669):1071-1074, giving a review of the 2d ed. of the "Sylva." Although this number of the Phil. Trans. was not published until 1670, it implies that the "Sylva" had been issued as early as November, 1669, by Martyn and Allestry, who were printers to the Royal Society. Further comment on this issue is found in Piccadilly Notes (Henry Sotheran, ltd.) no.7 (1933), which says of a copy dated 1670: "This is an unusual issue of the second edition, which nearly always has the date of 1669." The terms "unusual" and "nearly always" appear to be contrary to fact, as all the copies we have located are dated 1670, but the implication that there are in existence any copies with the date 1669 is important. (MFW-Oct.1938)

Eylder, Kaspar

Register van peeren, appelen &c. Haarlem, 1713.

Not found in other bibliographies. May be related to the "Vermeerdert en vernieuwd register van meest alle de soorten van peeren en appelen," of which the earliest recorded issue is the "2de druk," Leyden, 1721, with another issue in 1752. It seems likely that Eylder was a nurseryman. (MFW)

Fairchild, Thomas (1667?-1729)

For an account of this author and his book see Brotherston's "The city gardener" in Gard. Chron. (3) 51:65-66 (Feb. 3, 1912). Dates given above from Sargent, Silva of North America, 5: 68 (1893). Fairchild established a foundation providing for special sermons to be preached in London on Whitsun Tuesday of each year. See also Fairchild lectures.

The city gardener. Containing the most experienced method of cultivating and ordering such ever-greens, fruit-trees, flowering shrubs, flowers, exotick plants, &c. as will be ornamental, and thrive best in the London gardens. La nuova, vaga et dilettevole villa: opera d'agricoltura, piu che necessaria per chi desidera d'accrescere l' entrate de suoi podere ... per piantare, allevare, incalmare arbori, coltivar giardini [etc.] Pavia, 1597. (Brit. Mus.)

Altho Niccoli, Saggio Stor. e Bib. Agr. Ital. (1902), p.46, gives Brescia, 1559, as the first ed., this must be an error for that of 1599, as it was pub. at Brescia, while that of 1597 was pub. Pavia. W. M. Voynich in letter of April, 1913, quoted a 1599 copy as 1st ed. It may be that of 1597 is very little known. It is however, given by Filippo Re, Diz. Rag. Lib. Agr. 2:241, and there is a copy in the Brit. Mus. As neither of these gives the title in full, it has here been expanded from that of 1599 and other known later editions. (MFW)

The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the car was the cold. It was a sharp, biting cold that seemed to seep into my bones. I shivered as I walked towards the building, my hands tucked into my pockets. The air was thick with fog, and the streetlights cast a dim, yellow glow. I felt a sense of isolation, as if I were the only person in the world.

I had heard that the city was beautiful, but I didn't realize how cold it would be.
The fog was thick, and the streets were empty. I felt a sense of loneliness, as if I were a stranger in a strange land. The only sound I heard was the soft crunch of my shoes on the pavement.
I felt a sense of hope, as if I were about to discover something new.

Figure 1. The effect of the initial concentration of the monomer on the polymerization of α -methylstyrene initiated by TiCl_4 in CH_2Cl_2 at -78°C . The concentration of the initiator was 0.01 mol/L . The polymerization was terminated by the addition of methanol. The polymerization was carried out in a 100 mL three-necked round-bottomed flask equipped with a magnetic stirrer, thermometer, and nitrogen inlet. The monomer was added to the flask containing the initiator and the solution was stirred for 10 min before the addition of the monomer. Figure 1. The effect of the concentration of the Agrobacterium suspension on the transformation efficiency of Agrobacterium strains. The Agrobacterium strains were grown in the YEA medium for 24 h at 28 °C. The cell concentration of the strains was adjusted to 10⁸ cells/ml. The cell suspension was mixed with the plant tissue and incubated for 24 h at 28 °C. The plant tissue was then cultured on the selective medium. The transformation efficiency was determined as the number of transformants per 100 mg of plant tissue. The data are the mean ± SD of three independent experiments.

1. The first part of the paper discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for the integrity of the financial system and for the ability to detect and prevent fraud.

2. The second part of the paper examines the various methods used to collect and analyze data. It compares different techniques and discusses their strengths and weaknesses. The author argues that a combination of methods is often the most effective way to gather reliable information.

3. The third part of the paper focuses on the challenges of data collection and analysis. It identifies several common problems, such as incomplete data and biases, and offers suggestions for how to overcome them. The author stresses the need for careful planning and attention to detail.

4. The fourth part of the paper discusses the importance of data security. It outlines the various threats to data security and provides guidelines for how to protect sensitive information. The author argues that data security is a critical component of any data management system.

5. The fifth part of the paper concludes by summarizing the key findings and offering recommendations for future research. The author suggests that further work is needed to develop more effective methods for data collection and analysis, and to improve data security measures.

Florinus, Franciscus Philippus, pseud.

Francisci Philippi Florini serenissimi ad Rhenum comitis Palatini principis Solisbacensis P. in Edelsfelden et Kirmreuth, Oeconomus prudens et legalis, oder, Allgemeiner und rechtsverständiger haus-vatter. Nürnberg, Christoph Riegel, 1702.

See Alg. Deut. Biog. 7:131-132, 48:601-602; Fraas, Gesch. Landb. (1865), p.80-85; Güntz, Handb. Landw. Litt. 1:141-142.

It is generally conceded that the actual editor of the "Oeconomus prudens et legalis" was the Field marshal Count Philipp von Sulzbach (1630-1703), under the pseudonym of "Florinus". Nevertheless there was an actual Franciscus Philippus Florinus, according to Alg. Deut. Biog. 48:601-602, who was librarian to Count August von Sulzbach about 1675, and died at Sulzbach in 1699; but no connection between him and the "Oeconomus prudens et legalis" has been found.

Fraas states that while Roessig and others have intimated that the work was written by a count of the Rhine Palatinate named Franz Philipp, the Bavarian archives indicate that no count of Sulzbach with the full name Franz Philipp Florinus ever lived. But while nothing is known of the writings of the Philipp, count of Sulzbach, who was an imperial field marshal, his dates would have allowed for the compilation of this work. Fraas suggests that while he was a field marshal in his official capacity, he may under the name Florinus have been a marshal of the agricultural field.

Buch iv (p.646-858 in the original ed.), is on gardening, fruit culture, the vineyard, and arboriculture. (MFW)

Oeconomus prvdens et legalis. Oder Allgemeiner klug- und rechts-verstandiger haus-vatter, bestehend in neun büchern, ... mit rechtlichen anmerckungen auf allerhand vorfallende begebenheiten, versehen, durch herrn Johann Christoph Donauern. Nürnberg, Franckfurt und Leipzig, In verlegung C. Riegels, 1702. 1230, 178 p. F°. (Dept. Agr.)

----- Nunmehr zum zweitemal gedruckt. Nürnberg, Franckfurt & Leipzig, Chr. Riegel verl. gedr. bey J. Knorzen, 1705. 1230, 415 p. F°. (Brit. Mus.; Kat. Landb. Bib. Kjøbenhavn (1898), p.341)

----- Nürnberg, Franckfurt und Leipzig, In verlegung C. Riegels, 1722. 1230, 178 p. F°. (Dept. Agr.)

----- Nürnberg, 1750 [1749-1751?] 3 v. F°.

Güntz, 1:142, calls this 2d ed. of the original 1702 work in 9 "Bücher", with single date, 1750. Müller, Einleitung in die oekonomische und physikalische bücherkunde 1:4 (1780) gives 3 v., 1749-51, which is presumably the same ed. Müller also gives the "Oeconomus ... continuatus" with date 1751, which may possibly be identical with v.3 of this ed. (MFW)

Oeconomus prudens et legalis continuatus, oder Grosser herren stands- und adelicher haus-vatter bestehend in 5 büchern. Nürnberg, Franckfurt & Leipzig, 1719. 980, 406 p. F°. (Brit. Mus.; Kat. Landb. Bib. Kjøbenhavn (1898), p.341)

Güntz, 1:142, states that altho credited to Florinus and edited by Donauer, this work cannot be by the Palatine count Philipp, who died in 1703, but is by an unknown author. It seems probable that the reputé of the original "Oeconomus" must have encouraged the compilation of this later work, altho it is possible that it may have been by the same hand as the original "Oeconomus", remaining in MS until after his death. Buch iii is on "Pracht und lustgärten". (MFW)

Furber, Robert (fl.1724-1732)

Catalogue. London, Printed by H. P. for C. Rivington, 1724. 16 p. (Not located)

Brotherston, Gard. Chron. (3) 52:261 (1912) thinks this the earliest nurseryman's catalog ever published separately, and compares it with the one included in Miller's Dictionary, 1724, which in all probability was edited by Miller. Neither Johnson nor Cecil records this among Furber's works, but it is credited to him by Britten & Boulger.

----- A catalogue of curious trees, plants, &c.... both exotick and domestick, as will prosper in our climate, in the open ground, as hath been several years experienced by Mr. Robert Furber, gardener, over-against Hide Park gate, at Kensington, where any gentleman may be furnished with any of the following trees at reasonable rates ... 1. The first of the two is the "General" or "Overall" condition, which is the condition of the entire system. This condition is determined by the overall health of the system, and is the most important factor in determining the overall health of the system. The second condition is the "Specific" or "Detailed" condition, which is the condition of the individual components of the system. This condition is determined by the health of the individual components, and is the most important factor in determining the health of the individual components.

----- A catalogue of English and foreign trees ... collected and sold by Robert Furber. London, 1727. 2 pts. (Brit. Mus.)

[The flower-garden display'd] Twelve months of flowers [in 13 plates, designed by P. Casteels; engraved by H. Fletcher] (London, 1730) F°. (Brit. Mus. Nat. Hist. Cat. 2:632)

Plates include list of subscribers, which serves as a title. The original issue consisted solely of these plates, text being written for the 1732 issue by Richard Bradley. In 1734 a tract by Sir Thomas More was added; hence the work is sometimes credited to him. See Brotherston, "The flower garden display'd", in Gard. Chron. (3) 47:33-34 (Jan.15,1910)

----- The flower-garden display'd, in above four hundred curious representations of the most beautiful flowers; regularly dispos'd in the respective months of their blossom, curiously engrav'd on copper-plates from the designs of Mr. Furber and others, and coloured to the life. With the description and history of each plant and the method of their culture. London, Printed for J. Hazard, R. Montagu [etc.] 1732. 108 p., 12 col. pl. (Arn. Arb.; Lib. Cong.)

----- The 2d ed. To which is added, A flower-garden for gentlemen and ladies ... Also, the method of raising salleting, cucumbers, melons, &c. at any time in the year. Gabriel, Peter.

Le jardinier universel ou Les delices innocentes de la culture des jardins par le S. Gabriel. Montbelier, 1669. (Haller, 1:546)

Güntz, Handb. Landw. Litt. 1:162, says Peter Gabriel, Württembergischer Garteninspektor in Stuttgart, wrote a work in French on gardening, dedicated to the Duchess Marie Dorothea Sophie of Württemberg. Güntz does not give the title of the French original, but says that a German version by M. J. G. Schaffenstein, "Der allgemeine gärtner", was published in 1671.

Grisebach, Der garten (1910), p.122, gives 1696 as date of this work, almost certainly an error for 1669.

----- [German] Der allgemeine gärtner; oder, Die erlaubte ergötzlichkeit in pflanzung der gärten in allerley ländern. Eingerichtet nach den regeln der kunstlehrenden auff was weiss und weg man die erden erkennen und verbessern solle. Aus dem Frantzösischen ins Deutsche übersetzt von M. J. G. Scharffenstein. Stutgard, I. W. Röslin, 1671. (Univ. Bib. Leipzig)

Title from Güntz, l.c., from copy in Leipzig Univ. Library. Name of printer from Boehmer, 3 (1):684, where title is given very briefly.

----- Allgemeiner gärtner von setz- und pflanzung allerhandt fruchtbarer bäume, kräuter, und blumen in allerlei garten und ländern. Aus dem Frantzösischen von M. J. G. Scharffenstein. Zum 3ten mal gedruckt. [Esslingen, or Tübingen?] 1673. (Fach.-Kat. Aarg. Kant. Bib. (1887), p.745)

Haller, 1:546, gives place of publication as Esslingen; the Aargau Fach.-Kat. supplies it in brackets as Tübingen, where later issues were published.

----- Der reichs-gärtner. In sich haltend: Eine leichte unterweisung, den garten-bau betreffend. Eingerichtet nach der kunst-lehrenden regeln, wie man die erde recht erkennen und verbessern solle, neben einem absonderlichen bericht, zu anstellung dass küchengartens, und was in jedem monat für arbeit zu verrichten. ... Zum viertenmahl aufgelegt, und mit vielen neuen materialien vermehrt, neben der art und weise, die heut zu tag in Franckreich gebräuchlich ist, auf unser teutsches clima gerichtet. Tübingen, In verlegung J. G. Cotta, 1682. 223 p. (Dept. Agr.)

This edition is sometimes entered by bibliographers as "Unterweisung vom garten-bau", and sometimes under the later title "Kunsterfahrner gärtner".

Galiberti,

Deutliche anweisung zum gartenbau. Zelle, 1705.

Noted by Miltitz, col.295; Burehardt, 15:
382 (after Rohr, Haushaltungs-Bib., p.361);
Boehmer, 3(1):695. The latter gives author as Galibertus oder G. Albert" -- an interesting suggestion. The place of publication is also suggestive; at this date R. Dahuron was gardener to the Duke of Brunswick at Zell, and his "Wohl-bestellte garten-bau" is supposed to have been issued at Leipzig in 1705. (MFW)

Le dieci [vinti] giornate della vera agricoltura e piaceri della villa. Brescia, 1550. (Niccoli, p.45)

No good descriptions have been found for the earliest editions, but both Re, 2:288, and Haller, 1:304, state that the work first appeared in 1550. Haller incorrectly says that it originally consisted of 7 "giornate", while Re, in a detailed account, says it was first issued as "Dieci giornate", 3 more "days" being added in a 2d ed., and the final 7 "days" in the ed. of 1569. The 1565 copy in the Bib. Nat. has title "Dieci", and that of 1566 in the Dept. Agr. has "Tredici", hence the latter must be the 2d ed. to which Re alludes. (MFW)

----- Brescia, 1564. (Seguier, p.364; Niccoli, p.45)

----- Vinegia, appresso D. Sarri, 1565. 236 ff. (Bib. Nat. Paris; Cat. Bib. Min. Agr. Italy, Sup.2 (1898) p.302)

----- Venezia, 1567. (Niccoli, p.45)

Niccoli implies that this was the first ed. of the "vinti giornate", but most authorities indicate that it was first issued in 1569.

- Figure 1 is a line graph showing the percentage of the total sample for each age group across different years. The x-axis represents years from 1970 to 1990, and the y-axis represents the percentage of the total sample, ranging from 0 to 100. The age groups are: 0-14, 15-24, 25-34, 35-44, 45-54, 55-64, 65-74, and 75+. The graph shows a general trend of decreasing percentages for younger age groups and increasing percentages for older age groups over time.

"Francis Gentil, lay-brother of the Order of the Carthusians, and above thirty years gard'ner to the Charterhouse at Paris." From title-page of "Le jardinier solitaire, the solitary or Carthusian gard'ner." (London, 1672)

W. Roberts, "London and Wise," Gard. Chron. (5)11:361-362, 621-622 (1892), gives considerable information on eds. and translations of "Le jardinier solitaire." See also Payne, C. H. "Le jardinier solitaire." Gard. Chron. (3)54:224. Sept. 27, 1913.

Catalogued from Mo. Bot. Gard. copy. Cat. Bib. Nat. gives date 1712 without mentioning 1612.

"The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the plane was the cold. It was a sharp contrast to the warm, humid air of the tropics. I had heard that the weather in the north was harsh, but I didn't realize just how cold it would be. The wind was biting, and the sun felt like a distant star. I wrapped my coat around myself and tried to ignore the shivers running down my spine. The landscape was a vast, open plain, stretching out as far as the eye could see. There were no trees, no mountains, just a flat expanse of land under a pale sky. I felt a sense of isolation, a feeling that I was alone in a desolate world. The silence was deafening, broken only by the occasional rustle of leaves or the distant call of a bird. I took a deep breath, trying to steady my nerves. This was my first experience of the northern climate, and it was everything I had not expected. The cold was a challenge, but I knew I had to adapt. I had come here for a reason, and I was determined to see it through. The journey ahead would be long and difficult, but I was ready for whatever came my way. The first step was to find shelter, to get out of the elements. I looked around, searching for any sign of a building or a place to take refuge. The only structure I could see was a small, isolated cabin in the distance. It seemed like a good idea to head that way, to seek out some warmth and protection. I started walking, my boots crunching on the frozen ground. The cold was still there, but I was moving, and that gave me a sense of purpose. I knew that once I reached the cabin, I would be able to rest and recover from the journey. The cold was just a temporary inconvenience, and I was determined to overcome it. I was a survivor, and I would not let the weather defeat me. The journey ahead would be long and difficult, but I was ready for whatever came my way. 1. The first step is to identify the problem. This involves understanding the current situation and what needs to be changed.

2. The second step is to set goals. These should be specific, measurable, achievable, relevant, and time-bound.

3. The third step is to develop a plan. This involves identifying the resources needed and the steps to be taken.

4. The fourth step is to implement the plan. This involves putting the plan into action and monitoring progress.

5. The fifth step is to evaluate the results. This involves comparing the actual results with the goals and making adjustments as needed.

Germain, Michel (1645-1694), O.S.B.

Monasticon gallicanum, collection de 168 planches de vues topographiques représentant les monastères de l'ordre de Saint-Benoît, congregation de Saint-Maur ... [par Dom Michel Germain], le tout reproduit par les soins de M. Peigné-Delacourt, avec une préface par M. Leopold Delisle. Paris, V. Palmé, 1871. 2 v. F°. (Bib. Nat. Paris)

Mentioned by Gibault, Jour. Soc. Nat. Hort. France (1905), p.737, for views of Benedictine monasteries and their gardens. Larousse says Germain left a MS. "Histoire des monastères de l'ordre de Saint-Benoît", which was extracted in "Gallia Christiana". The complete work appears to have been first published in 1871.

1. The first group of people who were arrested in the early 1950s were those who had been active in the Communist Party of the United States (CPUSA) during the 1930s and 1940s. These people were often arrested on the basis of information provided by informants who had been working for the FBI for many years. The FBI had a long history of monitoring the CPUSA and its activities, and it was this information that led to the arrests of these people.

Gesner, Conrad (1516-1565)

Horti Germaniae ... Liber nunc primum editus, in quo stirpium quas diligentissimi quique rei herbariae per Germaniam studiosi suis in hortis educant ... tum natales plerumque, duratio, & ad cultum aliquid, aut alia quaedam explicantur. (In: Cordus, Valerius. Annotationes in P. Dioscoridis Anazarbei de medica materia. [Argentorati] 1561. 236th-298th leaf) (Arn. Arb.; Greene; Mo. Bot. Gard.; Surg. Gen. Lib.; Bib. Nat. Paris)

Kurt Wein, "Deutschlands gartenpflanzen um die mitte des 16. jahrhunderts", Bot. Centralblatt, (II), 31:463-555 (1914), makes a study of this work as representing the plant materials of European gardens before the introductions from North America etc. On p.480-511, he lists Gesner's plants under modern terminology, and arranged according to families.

[Gibson, John]

The fruit-gardener. Containing the method of raising stocks, for multiplying of fruit-trees, by budding, grafting, &c. As also, directions for laying out and managing fruit-gardens. To which is added, the art of training fruit-trees to a wall ... With a description of some of the best kinds of fruit; and the characters of the trees. London, Printed for J. Nourse, 1768. 411 p. (Mass. Hort. Soc.; Brit. Mus.)

Brit. Mus. Cat. enters under title, without attribution. The work was reviewed in Göttingische Gel. Anz. 1770, Zugabe, p.clxv-xxlviii, as "By an unknown author, a Scottish amateur. For many years it had been credited to Gibson, but in 1900 Brotherston, Gard. Chron. (3) 28:201-302, definitely established his authorship by tracing it through Gibson's other works, notably his "Theory of agriculture", also called "The survey of nature", which was published before 1772. All Gibson's works show him to have been possessed of a philosophical turn of mind.

----- [German] Reise durch einige gegenden von England und der Insel Wight; aus dem Englischen von G. F. Kunth. Leipzig, Andrä, 1806. (Kayser 2:383)

Observations, relative chiefly to picturesque beauty, made in the year 1772, on several parts of England; particularly the mountains, and lakes of Cumberland, and Westmoreland. London, Printed for R. Blamire, 1786. 2 v. (Mo. Bot. Gard.; Bib. Nat. Paris; Brit. Mus.)
Watt, 1:416t, Johnson, p.228, and Bico.
Univ., 17:388, give date 1787.

----- 2d ed. London, 1788. 2 v. (Peabody; Kew)

----- 3d ed. London, R. Blamire, 1792. 2 v. (Boston Athen.; Brit. Mus.)

----- 4th ed. London, Printed for T. Cadell and W. Davies, 1808. 2 v. (Lib. Cong.; Mass. Hort. Soc.; N. Y. Pub. Lib.)

Lowndes, l.c., says that this is the fourth edition, "erroneously called the third." "3d ed." evidently appeared on the t.-p. of the copies in the three libraries owning them; but the two copies of ed. 2, 1788, at Peabody and Kew and the copies of ed. 3, 1792, at the Boston Athen. and at the Brit. Mus. corroborate Lowndes's statement that the 1808 edition was the fourth.

The first part of the paper discusses the importance of the research and the objectives of the study. It also provides a brief overview of the methodology used in the study.

The second part of the paper presents the results of the study. It discusses the findings of the research and compares them with the existing literature. The results show that there is a significant difference between the two groups.

The third part of the paper discusses the implications of the findings. It suggests that the results of the study have important implications for the field of research. It also provides some suggestions for future research.

The fourth part of the paper concludes the study. It summarizes the main findings and provides a final statement on the importance of the research.

The fifth part of the paper provides a list of references. It includes all the sources used in the study and provides a list of references for further reading.

The sixth part of the paper provides a list of appendices. It includes all the supplementary material used in the study and provides a list of appendices for further reading.

The seventh part of the paper provides a list of figures. It includes all the figures used in the study and provides a list of figures for further reading.

The eighth part of the paper provides a list of tables. It includes all the tables used in the study and provides a list of tables for further reading.

The first part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function $f(x)$ defined by the equation $f(x) = \int_0^x f(t) dt$. It is shown that $f(x)$ is a constant function, and its value is determined by the initial condition $f(0) = 1$.

In the second part, we consider the problem of finding the maximum value of the function $f(x)$ on the interval $[0, 1]$. It is shown that the maximum value is attained at $x = 0$ and is equal to 1.

The third part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function $f(x)$ defined by the equation $f(x) = \int_0^x f(t) dt$. It is shown that $f(x)$ is a constant function, and its value is determined by the initial condition $f(0) = 1$.

In the fourth part, we consider the problem of finding the maximum value of the function $f(x)$ on the interval $[0, 1]$. It is shown that the maximum value is attained at $x = 0$ and is equal to 1.

The fifth part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function $f(x)$ defined by the equation $f(x) = \int_0^x f(t) dt$. It is shown that $f(x)$ is a constant function, and its value is determined by the initial condition $f(0) = 1$. In the sixth part, we consider the problem of finding the maximum value of the function $f(x)$ on the interval $[0, 1]$. It is shown that the maximum value is attained at $x = 0$ and is equal to 1.

Gordon, James (fl.1774), nurseryman of Edinburgh.

The planters, florists, and gardeners pocket dictionary; being a practical collection from the most approved authors in the English language, relating to the above three parts of gardening, founded on experience, worthy of notice, and adapted to the climate of Scotland. By James Gordon, nurseryman and florist, at Fountainbridge, near Edinburgh. Edinburgh, Printed for the author, by R. Fleming and A. Neil, 1774. 344, 56 p. (Dept. Agr.)

Gordon, James (d.1781), nurseryman of Mile-End.

Nurseryman of Essex Road, Mile-End, and seed shop in Fenchurch Street, to whom Fothergill often sent seeds, and who introduced some valuable trees into Britain. (Cf. Fox, R. H. Dr. John Fothergill and his friends, 1919, p.193). "Extracts from the literary and scientific correspondence of Richard Richardson" (Yarmouth, 1835), by Dawson Turner, contains a letter from Collinson, April 4, 1746, mentioning Gordon of Mile-End; also another letter from Collinson with a footnote on the James Gordon for whom Ellis named Gordonia Lasianthus, and a personal note by Ellis on the Gordons, father and son.

Gordon and Dermer.

A catalogue of trees, shrubs, plants, flower-roots, seeds, &c. sold by Gordon and Dermer, seed and nurserymen in Fenchurch-street, London. [n.p., n.d.] 154 p. (Dept. Agr.)

Probably published by or before 1780, as it mentions Fothergill, who died in that year, and James Gordon, the nurseryman to whom Fothergill sent many of his importations, himself died in 1781. A catalogue under the firm name, Gordon, Dermer and Edmonds, was presumably issued 1784, and it is reasonable to infer that the firm of Gordon and Dermer may have preceded it. (MFW)

Greflinger, Johann Georg (ca.1600-ca.1677)

Born in Regensburg about 1600; later came to Hamburg, where he was "Notarius Publicus", but occupied himself chiefly with writing. Many of his publications, ^{such} as those on gardening and confectionery, and gift books, were frankly written for the trade, but he was also author and translator of poems, epigrams, and the like, that appear to have been worthy of consideration.- Cf. Allg. Deut. Biog. 9:625.

The following, noted from the Brit. Mus. Cat., probably relates to the same: Oettingen, W. von. Georg Greflinger von Regensburg als dichter, historiker und uebersetzer. (Brink, B. ten, and Scherer, W., Quellen und forschungen zur sprach- und culturgeschichte der germanischen völker. Hft.49, 1874). This work has not been examined. (MFW)

This is doubtless the "Georg Graeflinger" who rendered into German the Dutch "Verstandige hovenier" of Van Aengelen, and the French "Jardinier françois" of Bonnefons. Haller, 1:511, says he translated Van Aengelen in 1663, and (l.c. 1:520) the "Frantzösischer küchen-gärtner" in 1664, and "Frantzösischer baum- und stauden-gärtner", 1666, corresponding to parts 1 and 2, respectively, of Bonnefons' work. However, it appears from copies examined that 1665 must have been the first date of publication for any of his translations from Bonnefons, which include "Der Frantzösische confitirer", probably also "Der Frantzösche becker" and "Der Frantzösche koch", tho the name of the translator does not appear in the last two.

It has also been implied that Greflinger rendered Le Gendre into German in 1666, but this is probably an error, arising from the fact that in 1703 a German version of Le Gendre, presumably made from the Dutch of Jan Commelin (Amsterdam, 1687), was added to the German text of Van Aengelen, which already included the tracts translated from Bonnefons. If Greflinger died about 1677, he obviously could not have made this version of Le Gendre, and no earlier German edition has been found except that of Edlebach (Zürich, 1679). Haller, 1:546, also has entries for two issues of Roll's "Neues blumenbüchlein" (Frankfurt, 1684, and Hannover, 1692), said to be "a Grefflingero recusum". But inasmuch as Haller includes Greflinger's German edition of Van Aengelen with both these issues, it appears likely that Roll's book was merely reissued with that of Van Aengelen, which might have caused the attribution of the former to Greflinger, altho he had died long before these issues came out.

His name is usually spelled "Graeflinger" by Haller, and by other bibliographers also given as "Gräfflinger" and "Grefflinger". The Brit. Mus. and Bib. Nat. Paris both use the spelling "Greflinger", which is possibly more accurate. (MFW) Groen, Jan van der, gardener to the Prince of Orange.

Le jardinier hollandois, où sont décrites toutes sortes de belles maisons de plaisance & de campagne; & comment on les peut planter, semer, & embellir de plusieurs herbes, fleurs, & arbres rares ... Der niederländische gärtner, das ist, Eine beschreibung allerhand fürstlicher, herrenhöfen, und lust-gärten, und wie man dieselben mit vielen trefflichen bäumen, blumen und kräutern kan bepflantzen, besäen, und zierlich anrichten. Amsterdam, M. Doornick, 1669. 127 p. and unnumbered pages of plans, printed on both sides. (Mass. Hort. Soc.; N. Y. Pub. Lib.; Brit. Mus.)

French and German text. Has added engraved title in Dutch: "Den nederlandtsen hovenier door I. van der Groen", but it does not appear that the Dutch text was published until the following year. Bouchard-Huzard (1870), p.971, gives this as the first edition, and "Den Nederlandtsen hovenier" with date 1670. Bouchard-Huzard's collation, 228 p., must be a counted paging.

This edition includes "Deux cens modelles ... Zwey hundert garten-modellen", chiefly designs of parterres, garden structures, and the like, printed both sides; also "24 nouveaux & curieux modelles à la françoise ... 24 neue garten-modellen ... nach frantzösischer ahrt", entirely consisting of full-page garden plans.

Some of the half-titles for various sections of the book are dated 1670.

Most of the editions noted elsewhere are recorded in Bouchard-Huzard's bibliography, "Ouvrages ... sur les constructions rurales et sur la disposition des jardins" (1870), p.971-972.

This date might easily be supposed an error for 1669, but as there was a Dutch ed. in 1696, as evidenced by "Collections van der Straelen", 4:146, and by the privilege in the Dutch issue of 1721, there may very well have been a French one in the same year. (MFW)

Haller, 1:541, and Miltitz, col.290 give 1st ed. as Amsterdam, 1668. Altho it may have been published in that year, this date may have been taken from the privilege, which was granted Dec. 10, 1668.

Güntz, Handb. 3:71, notes this work as consisting of 5 pts., 1764-1772. Apparently the original calendar as given above was supplemented by special parts, the last of which, relating chiefly to fruit and other trees and shrubs, was published in 1772. Hirschfeld, Garten-Kal. 1782, p.68, specially notes pt.6, 1772, and the Brit. Mus. has a copy of this part alone.

----- Frankfurt und Leipzig, H. L. Bronner, 1773-76 [pt.6, 1772] 6 pts. in 2 v. (Dept. Agr.)

Parts 1-2 are same as pt.1-2, 1765-66; pt.3 is a more expanded calendar for April to June; pts.4-6 are devoted to description and culture of vegetables, flowers, field crops and fruits. Pts.5-6 are paged consecutively, which probably accounts for the fact that Güntz, 3:71, as well as the Dept. Agr. printed card, records the work as consisting of 5 pts. However, it may be pt. 6 was published only in 1772; but more likely pts.5-6 were reprinted without making a change in the original title-page of the latter. (MFW)

Nordhausen, J. H. Gross, 1750. (Mo. Bot. Gard.; Brit. Mus.)

This is probably same as the Dept. Agr. copy published Nordhausen, Gross, 1751, with 203 p. According to Dochnahl, there was also a 2d ed. in 1762, tho possibly this may have been a 1st ed. of the 2d pt., as the entries are very confusing. It is certain that the 1st pt. was published in 1750, 1751, and a "vermehrte auflage" in 1774, as recorded by Hirschfeld, Garten-Kal. 1782, p.54. The latter also records pts.2 & 3, both published Nordhausen, 1774. (MFW)

Barbier, Dict. Ouvr. Anon. 4:754, ascribes this to Guérineau de Saint-Péravi, Jean Nicolas Marcellin, and Bib. Nat. Paris enters it under him. Gibault, *Jour. Soc. Nat. Hort. Landwirthschaftlicher haushalter, welcher zu der landwirthschaft gegründete nachricht ertheilet, nebst einer anleitung wie man ... bey der gärtneri, dem ackerbau und wiesenwächse das nöthige vorsichtig besorgen und darbey alles in gutem stande erhalten solle. Berlin, 1755.
(Güntz, 1:148; Kayser, 3:8)

Haller, 2:436, gives date 1754, but says it is 1755 according to Münchhausen, Hausvater. He also gives author's name as "Jodochus", but altho there is a "Jodochus Hagedoorn" in Cat. Bib. Nat. 67:746, flourishing about 1738, there does not seem to be any connection between the two.

Güntz says this work devotes much space to gardening at the expense of the other branches of agriculture. A popular work.

The antiquity, innocence, and pleasure of gardening; a sermon preached at Malpas, Cheshire; at a meeting of florists, by W. Harper. 1732.

Listed in gardening literature of 1732, by Weston, Cat. (1769), p.42.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for the integrity of the financial system and for the ability to detect and prevent fraud. The document also outlines the specific requirements for record-keeping, including the need to maintain records for a minimum of five years and to ensure that records are easily accessible and retrievable.

2. Importance of Accurate Record-Keeping

Accurate record-keeping is essential for the integrity of the financial system. It allows for the detection and prevention of fraud, and it ensures that the financial system is able to provide accurate information to the public. The document also outlines the specific requirements for record-keeping, including the need to maintain records for a minimum of five years and to ensure that records are easily accessible and retrievable.

Neuer garten-saal, oder Vollständige beschreibung aller einheimischen und ausländischen stauden- knollen- zwiebel- und blumengewächse. Frankfurt am Main, 1745. (Verz. Darmstadt, p.7)

Altho the 1746 and 1753 editions have a privilege dated Apr.19,1746, and give no indication of a previous issue, 1745 is definitely recorded by Güntz, 3:35, Haller, 2:344, and Pritzel, 1st ed. Rosenthal in 1926 quoted a copy with date 1733, but this seems questionable, as also the entry of Burchardt, 16:390, with date 1740. According to Haller the name Hartenfels is a pseudonym of Kaesersberg, of Heiligenstadt. (MFW)

Hartlib, Samuel (d.1670?)

The compleat husbandman: or, A discourse of the whole art of husbandry; both forraign and domestick. Wherein many rare and most hidden secrets, and experiments are laid open to the view of all, for the enriching of the nations. Unto which is added a particular discourse of the natural history and husbandry of Ireland. London, Printed by Edward Brewster, 1659. 82 p. (Brit. Mus.)

A designe for plentie, by an vniversall planting of frvit-trees: tendred by some wel-wishers to the publick. London, Printed for R. Wodenothe [1652?] 24 p. (Lib. Cong.; Roy. Agr. Soc.; Rothamsted; Brit. Mus.; Mass. Hist. Soc.)

Preface signed: Samuel Hartlib. Martyn, p. xxiii, states that this was "published by Hartlib, who had the manuscript from the Hon. Colonel John Barkstead", but that the actual author was "an aged minister of the Gospel, at Lovingland near Yarmouth".

Quaritch, Cat.400:89, says 1652 is the "only edition, very scarce". The Rothamsted library gives in addition to this one with queried date [1653?], as does also the Cat. Bib. Nat. Paris. Cecil, p.343, gives the first edition as 1652, and adds: "Also issued without a date, and in 1654. Segulier, p.368, gives: London, For Richard Wodenothe, 1654, and also gives under Hartlib two Latin titles: "De arborum & plantarum cultura &c. Londini. 1634 [intended for 1654]. Anglice", and "Methodus plantandi & inserendi arbores. Londini, Anglice", both of which must have been entries for this work. If the book never had the date in its title, it was likely that the same issue would have been entered under different dates, but in view of the common practice of issuing many editions with slight differences, it also seems probable that there was more than one issue of Hartlib's "Designe for plentie". The entry of the Rothamsted catalogue is probably based on a comparison of an authentic first edition with one differing from it in some distinguishable way. (MFW)

London, Printed by H. Hills, for R. Wodenothe, 1651. 131 p. (Lib. Cong.; Arn. Arb.; Brit. Mus.; Rothamsted)

Martyn, p.xxiii, says: "The work attributed to Hartlib was only drawn up at his request, and passing through his correction and revision, was published by him. The real author was R. Child."

Dircks, Biographical memoir of Samuel Hartlib (1865) p.69, says it consists chiefly of letters apparently written to Hartlib by Cressey Dymock, though the first (p.1-108) is attributed by some authorities to Robert Child.

Hazen, Jacob and Willem van, florists of Leyden

"Extracts from the literary and scientific correspondence of Richard Richardson," ed. by D. Turner (Yarmouth, 1835), contains letters from Gronovius referring to a gardener named "Haze" or "Van Hasen". On July 22d, 1738 (p.365), he writes that he has seen Jacob Haze about bulbous roots wanted by Richardson, also about getting Haze to supply him with a camphor tree. On July 29th (p.374) he says "Van Hasen hath collected all the roots which you want", mentioning various bulbs and tuberous plants, and on Sept. 2d (p.375) says "Haze" is sending layers of Laurus Aldini. Altho no connection is indicated, it would seem as if Jacob must belong to the same florist family as Willem van Hazen, who is probably the subject of the later notes in the same work on a certain "Wm. Van Haren" of Leyden. They occur in letters to Richardson from Thomas Knowlton, who was a poor speller, hence the substitution of an "r" for a "z" in the surname may have been due either to Knowlton's own spelling or to illegible writing or careless transcription of the name. On Nov. 13th, 1750 (p.406) Knowlton writes of sending a Hernandia of his own raising to "Van Haren at Leyden", and on March 8th following (p.409) he says: "Mr. Van Haren of Leyden has lately published a Catalogue of his garden, stove- and green-house plants ... named, after Dr. Boerhaave and Van Royen, Flora Leidensis". Knowlton says this catalog is said to contain nearly 850 sorts of plants. (MFW)

Heinecke, Karl Friedrich, freiherr von (1706-1791)

The author's name is variously given as "Heinecken," by Kayser, 3:84, and Biog. Univ. 19:578; "Heineken," in Cat. Bib. Nat. Paris, which lists many of his works on art topics; and "Heynecker" by Miltitz, Bib. Bot. col.335; but the reviewer in Neue Allg. Deut. Bib. 95:395 (1805) refers to him in the nominative as "der seelige Heinecke," also giving his title: "Königl. Poln. Geh. Land-Kammer-Rath." Biog. Univ. says he was born 1706 and died Dec.5, 1792, but cites Schlichtegroll in his "Nécrologe pour l'année 1791, 1er. volume, pag.294-305," thus supporting Kayser's date of 1791 for Heinecke's death.

The American Medical Association is a non-profit corporation organized for the purpose of promoting the interests of the medical profession and the public. It is composed of the members of the American Medical Association and the members of the American Osteopathic Association. The Association is organized into a hierarchy of committees and subcommittees, each of which is responsible for a specific area of the Association's activities. The Association's activities are carried out through the efforts of its staff and the cooperation of its members. The Association's primary concern is the promotion of the highest standards of medical practice and the improvement of the health of the American people. It does this by advocating for the medical profession, by providing information and education to the public, and by working to improve the medical care system.

Full title is given in Neue Allg. Deut. Bib. 95:395-396 (1805), which also gives full name of the editor, Johann Friedrich Benade, and printers as above; but indicates only one date, 1804, for parts of Hefts 1 & 2. Paging and inclusive dates are from Kopenhagen Kat. Imprints vary in different records: Kayser, 3:84, gives printer as "Fr. Fleischer, a Joachim," with dates 1804-05; Dochnahl, p.68, gives "Fritzsche," with date 1803, which corresponds to the Dresden copy of "Heft 1. Kernobst-sorten, Birnen, Sorau, 1803." Miltitz, col.313, says "Sorau, 1802-05," citing Neue Allg. Deut. Bib., l.c., but differs from the latter as to dates. The work was issued in parts, the first in 1803 or possibly earlier, and seems to be rare, only one complete copy having been located. The Neue Allg. Deut. Bib. says the original work was very useful in its day, but Benade's edition is inferior and full of typographical errors. (MFW)

The number of transformed cells was determined by the number of colonies obtained on the selective medium. The results are the mean of three independent experiments. 1. The first step in the process of the investigation is the identification of the problem. This is done by the investigator who is responsible for the study. The investigator must first identify the problem and then determine the scope of the study. The next step is to design the study. This involves determining the research objectives, the research questions, and the research methods. The third step is to collect data. This is done by the investigator who is responsible for the study. The data is then analyzed and the results are reported. The final step is to draw conclusions from the data. This is done by the investigator who is responsible for the study. The conclusions are then used to inform the next steps in the process.

- The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the car was the cold, crisp air. It felt like a fresh blanket after a long, hot summer. I took a deep breath, savoring the scent of pine and the distant sound of water.

- The walk to the lake was peaceful. The path was well-maintained, with soft grass and a few scattered leaves. I saw a few children playing in the distance, their laughter echoing through the trees.

- As I approached the water, the sun was just setting, painting the sky in shades of orange and pink. The water was calm, reflecting the colors of the sunset. I stood there for a moment, feeling a sense of tranquility.

- The air was cool, and the water was just what I needed. I took a small step into the lake, feeling the gentle ripples against my feet. The sound of the water was soothing, and the view was breathtaking.

- I walked along the shore, looking for a good spot to sit. The trees were tall and leafy, providing a natural canopy. I found a small clearing and sat down, watching the sun dip below the horizon.

- The night was quiet, with only the sound of the water and the occasional rustle of leaves. I felt a sense of peace and solitude, knowing that this was a special moment in time.

- As I sat there, I thought about the beauty of nature and how it always finds a way to heal and soothe. The lake was a perfect example of nature's beauty, a place where I could escape the world and find myself.

- The night was long, but it felt like it was just beginning. I stayed there until the stars came out, watching the moon rise over the water. It was a magical experience, one I would never forget.

Hermann, Paul (1640-1695)

His "Paradisus batavus" (1698) is noticed by Gibault, Étude (1905), p.717, in connection with rare plants of the Leyden garden in the latter part of the 17th century, and his "Catalogus" (1687) is cited by Kraus, Bot. Gard. Univ. Halle (pt. 2, 1894) as one of the landmarks in the introduction of plants from the Cape of Good Hope.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions and activities. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for ensuring transparency and accountability in the organization's operations. The document also highlights the need for regular audits and reviews to identify any discrepancies or areas for improvement.

In the second part, the focus shifts to the financial management of the organization. It outlines the various sources of revenue and the methods used to allocate funds across different departments and projects. The document stresses the importance of budgeting and financial planning to ensure the organization's long-term sustainability and growth.

The third part of the document addresses the human resources aspect of the organization. It discusses the recruitment process, employee training, and performance management. The document emphasizes the need for a fair and equitable system that motivates employees and fosters a positive work environment.

The final part of the document provides a summary of the key findings and recommendations. It reiterates the importance of maintaining accurate records, managing finances effectively, and investing in human resources. The document concludes by expressing confidence in the organization's ability to achieve its goals and objectives.

Herrera, Gabriel Alonzo de

Obra de agricultura copilada de diverses ^uactores, de mandado del muy illustre y reverendissimo Señor el cardenal de España arcobispo [Francisco Ximenez] de Toledo. [Alcala de Henares, por Arnao Guillen de Brocar, 1513] clxxviii ff. F°. (Arn. Arb.)

B. Anton Ramirez, "Diccionario de bibliografía agronómica" (Madrid, 1865, p.16-18) treats Herrera at some length, describing in full the edition sponsored by the Real sociedad económica matritense in 1818-19, and that of Madrid, 1620. He appends a list of all known editions, giving the name of the printer for most of them, but no other bibliographical details. In the following list the imprint is taken from Anton Ramirez for editions which have not been checked, also for others located in libraries which do not give it. In those cases where the library entry gives only the supposed publisher, as differing from that of the printer given by Anton Ramirez, the latter has been used in our entry, and the former added in a note.

Anton Ramirez says the title of the original edition, "Obra de agricultura", continued to be used till 1605, when it was changed to "Libro de agricultura", and again in 1620 to "Agricultura general". As a matter of fact several editions between 1539 and 1605 have title "Libro de agricultura", tho it is possible that others which have not been checked may have title like that of the first edition. (MFW)

----- Toledo, 1520. (Haller, 1:248; not seen by Anton Ramirez; assumed as 1st ed. by Rothamsted Cat., p.270)

According to Haller this must be under title: "Libro de agricultura", tho Anton Ramirez infers it to be that of the previous and next editions.

Brit. Mus. gives imprint merely as "Madrid, 1620". Cat. Bib. Nat. gives "Á costa de D. Gonzalez", without name of printer, but collation and contents correspond to those of Anton Ramirez, who lists contents as follows:

"Despertador, que trata de la grande fertilidad ... que España solia tener", by Juan Valverde de Arrieta, f. 175 et seq.

Horticultura, das ist, Kurtz- und verständliche anleitung, wie ein lust- obst- und küchengarten anzulegen. Brieg, bei Christoph Tschorn, 1664. (Haller, 1:522; Pritzel, 1st ed.)

Altho Miltitz, col.289, gives date of first edition as 1661, this is probably an error for 1671, while the date 1765 listed by Miltitz is obviously an inverted 1675. Both 1671 and 1675 editions have a dedicatory epistle dated "Ohlau den 29. Januarii 1664", and there is no evidence of an earlier issue. Hiebner is called "der zeit Fürstl. Lust-gärtner in Ohlau", and his tract is dedicated to Christian, Duke of Silesia, in Liegnitz, Brieg and Wohlau, and to the Duchess Louisa, the author subscribing himself their most obedient servant. Pritzel, 1st ed. says published by Hahn; this is accounted for by the fact that both eds. are "Gedruckt bey Johann-Erich Hahnen". (M.F.W.)

Hill, John (1716?-1775)

Cat. Bib. Nat. Paris enters under Hill, Sir John (pseud. Abraham Johnson), but other authorities do not give the name Johnson, while they do, as a rule, ignore the supposed title "Sir". Hill published many works anonymously, and consequently some of them have been credited to others, as "The gardener's new kalendar" (1758), attributed by Johnson, Hist. Eng. Gard. (1829), p. 214, to William Hanbury. Hill also took other names, as in his tract, "The practice of gardening By Thomas Perfect" (1759), supposedly a pupil of Hill. Again, he was responsible for the publication of "A new method of propagating fruit-trees and flowering shrubs" (1758), which Johnson, p.208, says was written "under the assumed name of Thomas Barnes". But the latter is usually accepted as actually written by Barnes, while the "T. Perfect" of the "Practice of gardening" is considered a borrowed or fictitious name. (MFW)

The attribution of Johnson (p.214 to William Hanbury has been followed by various bibliographers. Johnson, however (p.209), also enters this under Hill, without a date, but among works published in 1758 or 1759. Dryander, in Cat. Bib. Banks, 3:612, enters under Hill, and Brit. Mus., which doubtless has the very copy originally belonging to Banks, enters under title, crediting it to Sir J. Hill. Haller also, 2:357, gives it under Hill. The "Kalendar" is actually very similar to Hill's "Eden" (1757), without the illustrations and long descriptions of ornamentals, and with the other material rearranged and possibly augmented in the "Kalendar", but they are unquestionably by the same author. 1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions and activities. It emphasizes the need for transparency and accountability in financial reporting.

2. The second part of the document outlines the various methods and techniques used to collect and analyze data. It includes a detailed description of the experimental procedures and the statistical analysis performed.

3. The third part of the document presents the results of the study. It includes a series of tables and graphs that illustrate the findings of the research. The data shows a clear trend of increasing activity over time.

4. The fourth part of the document discusses the implications of the findings. It suggests that the results have significant implications for the field of study and may lead to further research in this area.

5. The fifth part of the document provides a conclusion and summarizes the key points of the study. It reiterates the importance of accurate record-keeping and the need for ongoing research in this field.

6. The sixth part of the document includes a list of references and a bibliography. It cites various sources that have been consulted during the research process.

7. The seventh part of the document contains a list of appendices and additional information. It includes a detailed description of the equipment used in the study and a list of the personnel involved in the research.

8. The eighth part of the document provides a list of figures and tables. It includes a detailed description of each figure and table and its location within the document.

9. The ninth part of the document contains a list of footnotes and additional information. It includes a detailed description of the methods used to collect and analyze data and a list of the personnel involved in the research.

10. The tenth part of the document provides a list of references and a bibliography. It cites various sources that have been consulted during the research process.

Hitt, Thomas (d.1770?)

Johnson, Hist. Eng. Gard., p.210, says Hitt died about 1710, evidently typographical error, as he also states that Hitt lived at Bloxholme in Lincolnshire in 1755. In the "Treatise of fruit trees", 3d ed., 1768, a footnote at end of the preface says that since the publication of the 1st ed., the author has made many additions which are faithfully included in the present ed., and that "he now resides at Bromley in Kent". As "The modern gardener" was published in 1771 by James Meader "from the diary manuscripts of the late Mr. Hitt", his death must have occurred between 1768 and 1771. (MEW)

Güntz, 3:64, has seen the copy of the Bib. Landw. Inst. Jena. Dochnahl, p.73, says the 1st ed. has 2 pts., which seems rather doubtful. The 2d ed. is apparently complete in 1 part, but the 3d ed. has an appended 2d part. The original preface included in the 2d ed., is dated "Sanct Jürgen, im Herzogthum Bremen, am Michaelistage 1760".

Kopenhagen copy described as Th.1-2, th.1, pt. 2 being "Botanische berichtigungen, neue erfahrungen und zusätze". Schönthuth, Ant.-Kat.16, no. 600; Dultz, Ant.-Kat.61, no.409; and Hirschfeld, Garten-Kalendar, 1782, p.63, give only date 1774 for the 3d ed., but Hirschfeld adds "2. theil, Bremen, 1780", which is also indicated by the entry in Dochnahl. Kayser, 3:185 has entry for "2 thle, Bremen, Müller, 1761-80", evidently combining all parts and issues from the earliest to the latest.

Burchardt, 15:394, gives the following dates for Hohberg, some of which may be those of issue of individual parts: 1679, 1682, 1689, 1695, 1701, 1706, 1715, 1716, 1749. Holyk, Georg (d.1704)

Vereinigter Lief- und ausländischer gartenbau. Riga, 1684. (Güntz, 3:29; Haller, 1:624)

Güntz, l.c., gives "Vereinigte Lif- und ausländische gartenbau" (1684), saying the 9th and last ed. was pub. Frankfurt, 1751. The last is the date and place of publication given by Dochnahl, p.73, for Holyk's "Neu vermehrtes vierfaches gartenbuch". The presumption is that this work changed its title from edition to edition, the first striking change occurring before the death of its author in an edition of Wittenberg, 1693, recorded by Pritzel, 1st ed., no.5225, under Kirchmaier, whose catalog of writers on gardening and agriculture is appended. This has title: "Verneuertes und vermehrtes dreifaches gartenbüchlein". In 1707 it became "Neu-vermehrtes vierfaches gartenbüchlein", probably continuing under this title to 1712. According to Haller, 1:624, Kirchmaier's catalog is in the issues of 1749 and 1750; but it is not found in the copy of Holyk dated 1720, in the Dept. Agr. Probably there may be very little of Holyk's original work left in the later editions. (MFW)

(12th cent.)

The name in the heading is the form originally used for Dept. Agr. cards, which now follow the Lib. Cong. practice, entering under "Yahya ibn Muhammad, called Ibn al-Awwam". Brit. Mus. Cat. also enters under "Yahya ibn Muhammad" &c. Cat. Bib. Nat. Paris uses "Ibn al-Awwam Ichbili (Abou Zakariya Yahya ibn Mohammad ibn Ahmad)".

Gibault, Jour. Soc. Nat. Hort. France (1905), p.712, mentions this work, referring especially to the French translation of 1864. It was known to Haller only as an Arabic manuscript, which he records, Bib. Bot. 1:206, as "Abu Zacaria Jehia ebn Mohammed ebn Achmed al Aouam. Ketab al fala-hat seu Tractatus de agricultura".

The work reveals the Moorish agriculture of Spain in the Middle Ages, and contains considerable data on fruit culture. (MFW)

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for the integrity of the financial system and for the ability to detect and prevent fraud.

2. The second part of the document outlines the specific requirements for record-keeping. It states that all transactions must be recorded in a clear and concise manner, and that the records must be kept for a minimum of five years.

3. The third part of the document discusses the role of the auditor in verifying the accuracy of the records. It states that the auditor must conduct a thorough review of the records and must report any discrepancies to the appropriate authorities.

4. The fourth part of the document discusses the consequences of failing to comply with the record-keeping requirements. It states that any individual or organization that fails to comply with these requirements may be subject to fines and penalties.

5. The fifth part of the document discusses the importance of training and education in ensuring compliance with the record-keeping requirements. It states that all individuals involved in the financial system must receive appropriate training and education.

6. The sixth part of the document discusses the importance of internal controls in preventing fraud and ensuring the accuracy of the records. It states that organizations must implement strong internal controls to minimize the risk of fraud and to ensure the reliability of their financial statements.

7. The seventh part of the document discusses the importance of transparency and accountability in the financial system. It states that all transactions must be recorded and reported in a transparent and accountable manner.

8. The eighth part of the document discusses the importance of ongoing monitoring and review of the financial system. It states that organizations must regularly monitor and review their financial system to ensure that it remains effective and efficient.

9. The ninth part of the document discusses the importance of collaboration and communication among all stakeholders in the financial system. It states that all individuals and organizations involved in the financial system must work together to ensure the integrity and stability of the system.

10. The tenth part of the document discusses the importance of staying up-to-date with the latest developments in the financial system. It states that all individuals and organizations must stay informed about the latest trends and technologies in the financial industry.

The New York Botanical Garden owns a MS book of 80 leaves, entitled: "A system of vegetation or generation of plants", and concluding with a ten-page "Catalogue of plants to furnish a green house in winter". There is a dedication "To Madam Skeene", signed "Jno. Jolliffe", and dated Jan.7,1724/5, which suggests that the author may have been Madam Skeene's gardener. The source of this MS is unknown, but the single illustration, "The flower of the Tulip-tree, facing 19th leaf, rather suggests that it may be of English origin. (MFW)

Gibault, Jour. Soc. Nat. Hort. France (1905), p.741, gives this with date 1658, probably due to the fact that the title mentions plants grown in that year. On p.139-140 is a list, probably new additions of 1659, with names of their growers; and the entire catalog comprises many species of recent introduction. (MFW)

These residents may be affected by the project in a number of ways, including increased traffic, noise, and air pollution. The project may also affect the local economy by creating jobs and increasing the demand for goods and services. The project may also affect the local environment by increasing the demand for water and electricity, and by increasing the risk of flooding and other natural disasters.

[Faint, illegible handwritten notes]

Justice, James (d.1763?)

Considerable personal information is given about Justice in Johnson, Hist. Eng. Gard. (1829), p.206, and he is noted in Britten & Boulger, Biog. Index (1931), p.170, whence it appears that the title "Sir" in the "Calendar" of 1759, may be fictitious, as Britten & Boulger, who are quite punctilious about titles, do not use it. Justice was Clerk to the Sessions in Edinburgh, and on his retirement devoted himself to gardening and particularly to the culture of flowers, to such good purpose that Haller, Bib. Bot. 2:440, commends his book for its wisdom and accuracy.

Johnson says he died in 1762 or 1763, which is supported by the "Advertisement" in "The British gardener's director" (Edinburgh, 1764). This is dated Edinburgh, September 1763, and says: "His death has deprived the world of the fruit of his after-labours, which his memorandums and notes left behind him give us room to think he intended, in proper time, to have laid before the public".

His "Calendar", which Johnson regards as an edition of the "Director", seems to me an independent work. His name, which did not appear in the title of the original edition of the "Director" (1754), or in that of 1759, is in that of the "Calendar" (1759), and the latter has a preface by the author, giving his reasons for compiling a calendar, and mentioning the "Eden" of John Hill, which was published in 1757, considerably later than the original edition of Justice's "The Scot's gardeners director" (1754).

"The British gardener's director" (Edinburgh, 1764) and "The British gardener's new director" (Dublin, 1765) have the same number of pages, but the text of the latter is entirely repaged and rearranged, with considerable new material, some of which is taken from the "British gardener's calendar" of 1759, but not in the "Director" of 1764.

Altho the preface of the Dublin edition of 1765 is dated Edinburgh, September, 1763, like that of the Edinburgh ed., it does not, like the latter, mention the author's death. It suggests itself that this Dublin edition was based on a very much earlier issue of the "Director", and was virtually a pirated edition.

There is some reason to suppose "The British gardener's director" (Edinburgh, 1764) was not very different from the original "Scot's gardeners director" (1754), as the former contains many references to and extracts from the catalogs of Dutch florists for the year 1754, probably the same as in the original "Director".

Published anonymously? Pritzel, 1st ed., no. 11607, enters under title, without hint of authorship.

Gibault, Jour. Soc. Nat. Hort. France (1905), p.739, mentions this in connection with nurserymen's catalogs; it probably has special interest for the history of plant introduction. (MFW)

According to Güntz, Handb. Landw. Litt. 2: 99-104, these include some minor contributions on garden vegetables, and bd.2, abt.2, no.3 is "Von erzeugung und wartung der tulipanen".

Justice, James (d.1762 or 1763)

Considerable personal information about Justice is found in Johnson, Hist. Eng. Gard. (1829), p.206, and he is noted in Britten & Boulger, Biog. Index (1931), p.170, whence it appears that the title "Sir" in the "Calendar" of 1759, is probably without grounds, as Britten & Boulger, who are extremely punctilious about titles, do not use it. Justice was Clerk to the Sessions in Edinburgh, ~~who~~ ^{and} on his retirement devoted himself to gardening and particularly to the culture of flowers, to such good purpose that Haller, Bib. Bot. 2:440, commends his book for its wisdom and accuracy.

Johnson says he died in 1762 or 1763, which is borne out by the "Advertisement" of "The British gardener's director" (Edinburgh, 1764), which is dated Edinburgh, September 1763, and says: "His death has deprived the world of the fruit of his after-labours, which his memorandums and notes left behind him give us room to think he intended, in proper time, to have laid before the public".

The same "Advertisement" states that "The first edition of this book appeared under the title of the Scots gardener's director", which title, it is said, the author thought fit to change, as the book was equally adapted to northern England as well as Scotland.

The first edition, "The Scot's gardiner's director, by a gentleman" (1754), evidently does not have the author's name in the title, as the Cat. Lib. Roy. Agr. Soc. (1918), p.173, adds the note that the dedication is signed J. Justice. The same is probably true of the 2d ed., 1759, a copy of which was quoted in a letter of C. F. Swingle, Jan. 1928, without the author's name. The name appears, however, in "The British gardener's calendar" of 1759.

This "Calendar" (1759), which Johnson regards as an edition of the "Director", but very different from the others, seems to me an independent work. Some of the arguments are: (1) it is the only work by Justice that calls itself a calendar, altho in other respects its title is very similar to those of the "Directors" of 1764 and 1765; the fact that a 2d ed. of the "Director" was also issued in the year 1759 may easily have given rise to the idea that the "Calendar" was identical with it; (2) the inclusion of the author's name in its title, which was evidently omitted from that of the "Director" issued the same year; (3) the author's preface, giving his apology for compiling a calendar, and alluding to "Eden", i.e. the work of that title compiled by John Hill, published in 1757, considerably later than the original edition of "The Scot's gardiner's director".

The idea that the original "Scot's gardiner's director" (1754) was on the expanded plan of "The British gardener's director" of later dates is suggested by the extensive use in those later issues of Dutch florists' catalogs of 1754. The "Catalogues van schoone bloemzaaden te vinden by Dirk en Pierre Voerhelm te Haerlem, 1754⁽⁹⁾," quoted at length in the "Director" of Edinburgh, 1764, p.337-346, and Dublin, 1765, p.308-316, followed by explanations about many flowers listed, together with many other allusions to catalogs of "Mynheers Voerhelm and Van Zompell", sometimes without date but often of the particular year 1754, suggest that the author must have prepared his material specially for timely use in that year.

The text of the 1764 and 1765 editions is in the main identical, but it is a mere coincidence that they happen to have the same number of pages, as the subject matter of the 1765 edition is entirely repaged, and considerable material added. "A treatise on vegetation" (p.i-xii), to some extent rewritten, but mainly identical with the "Introduction" (p.1-17) of "The British gardener's calendar" of 1759; "An alphabetical list of flower seeds &c." (p.xiii-xxi); and the "Dissertation on forest trees"⁽⁹⁾, also found in the "Calendar"⁽⁹⁾, are none of them found in the edition of Edinburgh, 1764. There are also interpolations of material from other sources, as Miller's directions for the growing of tulips from seed, which ~~has~~ been inserted as footnotes in Justice's section on the tulip, p.282-293 of the 1765 edition. have Another point of interest in connection with the Dublin edition of 1765 is that it has a preface dated at end like the "Advertisement" of the Edinburgh edition of 1764, "Edinburgh, September, 1763⁽⁹⁾," but unlike the latter, it does not mention the author's death. This suggests the possibility that the Dublin edition was prepared independently on the basis of one of Justice's earlier editions, and in a sense pirated, while the Edinburgh issue seems to have some kind of authorized relation with the earlier ones.

Kalm, Pehr (1715-1779)

Pehr Kalm, a native of Finland and professor at the University of Åbo, on the recommendation of Linné was sent by the Swedish Royal Academy of Science to North America, to study its natural history and economic resources. From Sept. 1748 to Feb. 1751, he travelled in New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Canada, collecting plants and seeds and making notes on economic uses of the plants encountered. The main narrative of Kalm's travels was published in three volumes as "En Resa til Norra America" (Stockholm, 1753-61); and an English translation by J. R. Forster appeared with title: "Travels into North America" (London, 1770-71). See H. O. Juel and J. W. Harshberger, in Proc. Acad. Nat. Sci. Phila. 81:297-303 (1930).

The rare catalog of plants collected on this journey, with Kalm's own notes on localities, uses, and in some instances cultivation, is described by B. D. Jackson in Jour. Bot. 60:334-335 (Nov. 1922)

The following theses written under Kalm's direction at the University of Åbo indicate an interest in horticultural matters on his part.

Kennedy, John F.

John F. Kennedy was born on May 29, 1917, in Boston, Massachusetts. He was the youngest of nine children of Joseph P. Kennedy and Rose Kennedy. He attended the Choate Rosemary Hall in Wallingford, Connecticut, and then Harvard University, where he graduated in 1940. He served in the United States Navy during World War II, rising to the rank of Lieutenant Junior Grade.

After the war, Kennedy worked for the Office of Naval Intelligence and then for the United States Information Administration. He was elected to the United States House of Representatives in 1946, representing the Second District of Massachusetts.

Kennedy was elected to the United States Senate in 1960, representing Massachusetts. He was re-elected in 1962. He was a member of the Senate Select Committee on Assassinations.

On November 22, 1963, Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas, Texas, while on a campaign stop. He was the youngest President of the United States, serving from January 20, 1961, to November 22, 1963.

His death led to the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Voting Rights Act of 1965. He is remembered for his leadership during the Cuban Missile Crisis and for his efforts to improve relations with the Soviet Union.

Kennedy was posthumously awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom in 1964. He is buried in Arlington National Cemetery in Washington, D.C.

According to Güntz, 2:205, this is mentioned as the "Kräuterbuch" of Reichart in the latter's "Land- u. garten-schatz", th.1, kap.11, p.90.

It is of historical value in showing plants that were grown about Erfurt at this time. See also note under ed. of 1757-1764.

(Pritzel, 2d ed.)

Pritzel gives this as a preliminary edition of the "Botanica in originali", 1757-1764.

----- Botanica in originali; seu, Herbarium vivum, in quo plantarum tam indigenarum quam exoticarum ... elegantissima ectypa exhibentur, opera et studio Ioannis Godofredi Trampe, typographi halensis. Centuriae XII. Halae Magdeburgicae, 1757-64. 12 pts. col. plates. F°.
(Lib. Cong.; Arn. Arb.; Mass. Hort. Soc.; Brit. Mus. Nat. Hist.; Kew; Bib. Nat. Paris)

Imprint dates vary in the several copies, but 1757-1764 are inclusive. Complete copies should have 1200 (Pritzel gives 1254) plates, bound in from 2-7 volumes.

An article in Gard. Chron. (3) 18:210 (Aug. 24, 1895), on "Botanica in originali" (1758-1764), refers to the special interest of the work as a record of plants grown in Germany, probably at Erfurt, at that time, and also as one of the first works in which nature-printing was employed in illustration of plants.

Knorr, Georg Wolfgang (1705-1761)

Recueil choisi de desseins de fleurs à l'usage des dames, à l'aide duquel on peut apprendre très facilement et sans beaucoup d'instruction l'art de dessiner les fleurs. Nuremberg, chez les heritiers de feu G. W. Knorr [n.d.] 2 fasc. of col. pl. F°. (Bib. Nat. Paris)

Thesavrvs rei herbariae hortensisqve vniversalis, exhibens figvras florvm, herbarvm, arborvm, frvticvm, aliarvmqve plantarvm prorsvs novas, et ad ipsos delineatas depictasqve archetypos nativis coloribvs ... Apud Georgii Wolfgangi Knorrii haeredes ... Allgemeines blumen-kräuter-frucht- und garten-buch. Nürnberg, Gedruckt bey P. J. Felssecker, 1770-72. (Dept. Agr.; Brit. Mus. Nat. Hist.; Kew; Lindley; Bib. Nat. Paris)

According to Pritzel the plates, which are in many independent groups, should total 301 for the 1st and 102 for the 2d pt. The text of the Dept. Agr. copy, however, states that th.1, 1770, contains 200 pl., and th.2, 1772, 101 pl. This agrees with the total of 301 given by Kayser, 3: 371, and Brunet, 4:439. Other entries do not give the number of plates.

The first plates of this work appear to have been issued under the title: "Regnum florum, das reich der blumen", and Bib. Nat. Paris has a set of 101 plates with this title, undated, but published at Nürnberg, by G. W. Knorr. These are apparently identical with those of th.2, 1772, but the latter are entirely rearranged.

Bib. Nat. Paris also has copy under the title: "Thesaurus rei herbariae hortensisque", including both plates and text by Philipp Friedrich Gmelin and Georg Rudolph Boehmer, with imprint: "Nürnberg, G. W. Knorr, 1750", indicating that some part, at least, of the text had been issued at that date, and confirming Pritzel's statement that there are copies of vol.1 dated 1750.

In the Dept. Agr. copy text and plates are bound separately, the latter preceded by a decorated half-title: "Regnum florum" etc., forming the 2d vol. of the work.

----- Nürnberg, 1788-89. 403 pl. in 2 v. F°. (Bradley Bib. 1:292)

----- Pomona austriaca, ou Arbres fruitiers d'Autriche, représentés en figures, dessinées et peintes d'après nature. Vienne, A. Blumauer, 1797. 2 v. 200 pl. F°.

Pritzel enters as anonymous, but says the plates are those of Kraft's "Abhandlung"; he also mentions under the latter (5377), that there are issues with French text.

Krause, Christian Ludwig (d.1773)

Catalogus arborum, fruticum et herbarum exoticarum et indigenarum, quarum semina venduntur apud Chr. Lud. Krause. Berolini, 1753. 40 p. (Pritzel, both eds.)

Haller, 2:297, incorrectly gives this work under Krause, Ludwig Philipp.

Fünfzigjähriger Erfahrungsmässiger unterricht von der gärtnerrey. Berlin und Leipzig, G. J. Decker, 1773. 782 p. (Bib. Nat. Paris)

Mentioned in Michaud, Biog. Univ. 22:575, in sketch of Krause. Noticed in Hirschfeld, Garten-Kalendar, 1782, p.8. Copy advertised Schönhuth, Cat.16, item 213.

Krause, Ludwig Philipp

Boehmer, Bib. Script. Hist. Nat. 3(1):705, characterizes Krause as "Hortulanus longa experientia clarus", which, coming from the usually supercritical Boehmer, would suggest that his book was of more than ordinary value. (MFW)

----- Der kluge und sorgfältige gärtner, oder Deutlicher unterricht vor alle und jede garten-liebhaber, so wohl von blumen- küchen- als auch baum-garten. Langensalza, J. C. Martini, 1738. 255 p. (Mass. Hort. Soc.)

Haller, Bib. Bot. 2:297, gives this title as published "Langensalza, 1737", but the editor's preface to the 3d ed., 1754, states that both previous editions had been issued from the same press (Langensalza, J. C. Martini) in the years 1738 and 1741 respectively. Possibly 1737 may have been the date of the preface, dedication, or privilege, tho not that of actual issue?

Dochnahl, Bib. Bot., p.44, says Leonhardi's translation of Van Aengelen, "Verständige gartenmeister" of above date, is also under title: "Krausens kluger und sorgfältiger gärtner"; but this statement is not confirmed by other bibliographers. (MFW)

Neu erfundene holtz-anlage, als eine frucht des neu erfundenen ackerbau-rätzels [signed Peter Kretzschmer]. Leipzig, Gross, 1748. 20 p. (Bib. Nat. Paris)

Altho the author's name is spelled differently in this tract, he is probably identical with the writer of the following, to which this may be a kind of supplement.

Oekonomische vorschläge, wie das holz zu vermehren, die strassen mit schönen alleen zu besetzen. Halle und Leipzig, 1744. (Grossherzogl. Bib. Weimar)

Güntz, 2:208, describes this copy with following contents: Kap.1. Oekonomische vorschläge ... gärten anzulegen und obstbäume zu pflanzen; Kap. 5. Wie die maulbeerplantagen mit unsern holzpflanzungen zu vervinden. The work is also noted by Haller, 2:343.

----- ^{2te Aufl.} Leipzig, 1746. ^{168 p.} (Haller, l.c.; Burchardt, 15:400, after Wöllners Oekon. Bib. p.75)

Hamburg, H. Dreyer, 1710. 40 p. 8 pl. F°. (Miltitz, col.296)

Publisher's name from Seguiet, p.407. Latter gives alternative Latin title: "Amenitates hortenses novae atque mirabiles", also found Münchenhausen, Hausvater, 3:133. Burchardt, 15:400, quotes this work after Rohr, Haushaltungs-Bib.

Krottendorff, Paul

Instruction pour les jardins fruitiers, ou le Traité des arbrisseaux ou les arbres nains comme pomes, poires, pesches et apricotiers, en françois et allemand, avec un petit dictionnaire les [sic] termes du jardinage plus utile [sic] ... par le jardinier Paul Crottenforff, aux jardins de Mons. George Bose ... Unterricht von obstgarten, oder die Handlung der niedriger frantz-zwerg-bäume. Leipzig, C. Scholvien [or Scholiren?] 1700. sig. A-H. (Bib. Nat. Paris)

Miltitz, Bib. Bot. col.294, and Burchardt, 15:400, give this under German title: "Unterricht von obstgärten". Both give the forename as Ludwig, and Miltitz spells the surname "Kottendorff", but the form used by Cat. Bib. Nat. is probably correct. Query: is the Georg Bose of this title the owner of the "Hortus Bosianus" of Elias Pein's works, 1690-1713, where owner's name is given as Kaspar Bose? (MFW)

100-1000000000

- The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the plane was the cold air. It felt like a giant hand reaching out to grab me.
- I had heard that the weather was bad, but I didn't realize how bad it would be. The rain was coming down in sheets, and the wind was howling.
- I tried to call my father, but the line was busy. I was alone in a strange city, and I didn't know anyone.
- I walked through the streets, looking for a place to stay. I found a small, run-down hotel with a sign that said "The Green Leaf".
- The room was small and cluttered, but it was mine. I took a shower and tried to get some sleep, but I couldn't. My mind was racing with thoughts of my father and the future.
- I went back out into the rain, looking for a way to find my father. I saw a man in a suit standing outside a building, and I went over to him.
- He looked at me and said, "You're looking for Mr. Green?" I nodded, and he led me to a car. The driver took me to a large, modern building.
- I stepped out of the car, and a man in a suit came to meet me. He was my father. He had grown older, but his eyes were still the same. He hugged me, and I felt like I had come home.

SECRET

- I stayed in the hotel for a few days, and then I went back to my father's house. He had a large, beautiful home with a garden full of flowers.
- I had heard that my father was a doctor, but I didn't know how much he had achieved. He showed me his office, and I saw that he was a very successful man.
- I went to school, and I studied hard. I wanted to be like my father, and I knew that I had to work hard to achieve my dreams.
- I met a girl named Sarah, and we became friends. She was smart and kind, and she helped me when I was in trouble.
- I went to college, and I studied medicine. I wanted to be a doctor like my father, and I knew that I had to work hard to achieve my dreams.

- I graduated from college, and I became a doctor. I worked in a hospital, and I saw many people who were in pain. I wanted to help them, and I knew that I had to work hard to achieve my dreams.
- I met a girl named Sarah, and we became friends. She was smart and kind, and she helped me when I was in trouble.
- I went to college, and I studied medicine. I wanted to be a doctor like my father, and I knew that I had to work hard to achieve my dreams.
